U.S. REARMING IN A WORLD OF DICTATORSHIPS

Growing Crisis in Mexico Cited.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—With congress proceeding tomorrow to consider the President's billion dollar rearmament program it became known today that the United States is concerned not only at Japan's aggression upon American rights and interests in China, but at the encroachment of dictatorship upon our very borders.

Representative J. J. O'Connell who warns Fascist revolt perils Mexico.

The Mexican government, it was learned, is betraying signs of instability as a result of financial excesses occasioned by its program of redistribution of wealth and is threatened with replacement by an authoritarian régime of either a Fascistic or communistic character.

Brazil's Situation Cited.

Dictatorship in varying degrees is the form of government in many Latin-American republics. In Brazil last November Dictator Vargas, in a new coup d'état, virtually extinguished democracy and set up a régime closely resembling Fascism. President Roosevelt, who said at Rio de Janeiro that he and Dictator Vargas were co-authors of the new deal, condoned and defended the new seizure of power.

To the threat of an authoritarian revolution, which would bring dictatorship to our very doors, is ascribed the aid the Roosevelt administration is giving to the Mexican government. Administration officials admit their anxiety at the turn of events in Mexico and intimate that Washington will do all in its power to prevent a Fascistic or communistic coup d'état in our neighbor republic.

U. S. Buying More Silver.

To this end, it is explained, the Roosevelt administration recently agreed to purchase Mexican silver at a premium in order to stabilize the peso and thereby enable the Mexican government to weather a financial gale threatening to sweep it from office and bring in the Fascists or communists. The administration has been under fire for spending the taxpayers' money on this first aid to the Mexican treasury while the Mexican government was doubling its tarif on major American imports and cracking down on American oil companies with restrictive decrees. Administration officials have hinted that vastly greater considerations were at stake.

The financial troubles of the Cardenas government at Mexico City are the result of the financing of the expropriation of estates, division of the land among the peons, and assistance of the new owners in independent cultivation of the land. The undertaking proved visionary and beyond the resources of the government.

Charge Germany Supplies Arms.

Whether the threat to the stability of the Mexican government emanates from Fascists or communists is a matter of dispute. The communists say Fascistic, the Fascists a communistic, coup d'état is in the making. Representative J. J. O'Connell [D., Mont.], a member of the liberal bloc in congress, asserted at Los Angeles yesterday that Germany is supplying arms and ammunition to an army of 100,000 men in the Guadalupe hills of Mexico under Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, and predicted a Fascist revolt in Mexico within two months. He is promoting an amendment to the neutrality act that would enable the United States to assist the Mexican government in combating a Fascist revolution.

The Bank of Mexico's metallic reserves declined between June 26, 1937, and Jan. 8, 1938, from 195 to 113 million pesos, while the note issue remained unchanged. Meanwhile, loans and discounts, due to the requirements of the socialization program, grew from 133 millions to 172 millions while the central institution's deposits, reflecting the alarm of private banks, declined from 125 to only 80 million pesos, and would have de-

Daughter Is Born to Crown Princess Juliana of Holland

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Jan. 31 [Monday].—(AP)—Crown Princess Juliana of The Netherlands, wife of Prince Bernhard, gave birth today to a daughter and heiress-presumptive to the throne. The baby was born at Soestdijk palace after a fortnight's expectancy. Both mother and child were reported doing well. Royal artillery crashed out a 51-gun salute, telling the nation that its fervent hopes for a male heir had been dashed. If a boy a 101 gun salute would have been fired. Tumultuous national rejoicing greeted the event.

REBELS' BOMBS TRAP WAIFS IN CHURCH CELLAR

Total Death Toll in Barcelona Is 350.

Japanese Kill 3,000

SHANGHAI—Three thousand Chinese soldiers reported slain as Japanese win victories on two war fronts. One thousand of dead shot as guerrillas. Page 4.

BARCELONA, Jan. 30.—(AP)—More than 350 persons, 158 of them war orphan children, were killed today in two rebel air raids on this Spanish government capital. It was the most destructive aerial attack of the civil war.

Semi-official estimates said 700 others were wounded while unconfirmed reports declared another 300 were killed in a flooded bomb shelter.

The 158 children died crouching in the basement of an old church where they had taken refuge from an adjoining orphanage. Four rebel projectiles scored a direct hit on the church dome and plummeted to the basement converting it into a scene of unforgettable horror.

Unverified reports of casualties in the flooded underground shelter said several bombs tore through the structure shattering water pipes that flooded the structure before the victims could escape through débris clogged exits.

Orphans from Basque Country.

The orphanage from which the children fled seeking a haven in the church had been used to care for refugee children from Madrid, Asturias, and the rebel-conquered Basque country.

Had they stayed in their dormitories they probably would have survived for seven other children—too ill to leave their beds—were still there tonight chattering with fright, but unharmed.

Crowds moving in Barcelona's blood-stained streets tonight passionately demanded destruction of the rebels' air base at Palma, Mallorca, as Red Cross rescue workers toiled to aid survivors and searchers hunted for more bodies in the wreckage.

The month-end bombings raised the total casualties for January to 1,080 killed and more than 2,000 wounded in raids on government towns behind the civil war battle lines.

Five Story Houses Crumble.

The force of the explosions of 440 pound bombs today crumbled five story houses, burning their occupants. Huge craters were blasted in the streets, cutting water and gas mains and spewing up the twisted pipes.

The resumption of the rebel aerial attacks, just as hopes were growing for "an air armistice," stunned the people of Barcelona.

For four days since Defense Minister Indalecio Prieto suggested a truce on attacks behind the lines Barcelona had waited—in a semblance of security.

The rebel planes flew in from the sea this morning with Generalissimo Francisco Franco's answer.

Most victims of the first raid at 9 a. m. were still in bed. Government planes rose in pursuit, but, their work done, the rebel bombers raced out to sea.

Loyalists Gain at Teruel.

Scarcely an hour later they were back. Bombs were heard hissing down, followed at split-second intervals by thunderous explosions.

The second raid was so sudden that several Red Cross men were killed while still searching for victims of the first attack.

Two bombs in the first raid had fallen only about 20 yards behind a hotel. The building rocked to the force of their explosions. Panic-stricken women lay on the floor of the hotel corridors.

On the Teruel battle front, 150 miles southwest of Barcelona, the government army was pushing steadily northward, harassing rebel communication lines to thwart new assaults on eastern Spain.

WON'T YOU COME INTO MY PARLOR?

Fashion Bares All Our Ankles to the Breezes

BY MARCIA WINN.

The signs of spring in 1938 will be evident first on the ankles of the fashionably dressed man and woman. For come what may, ankles will be chapped if the new fashion decrees are observed faithfully.

Women's skirts, fashion arbiters announced here yesterday in advance of the numerous spring fashion shows for men and women that will open in Chicago this week, must be 15 inches from the ground, and men's trousers must skim their shoe tops.

In addition, women are to look romantic while their knees crackle in the wind, and men are to wear suspenders of colors harmonizing with their sox and ties.

The waists on women's dresses will be high and fitted; many of the skirts will be of the pleated, swing variety. Similarly, it develops, the waists of men's trousers will be high and pleated, but the bottoms, alas, will be narrow.

Where Romance Lurks.

Although navy, sturdy and businesslike as it may seem to the uninformed, is the basic spring color, romance lurks, the stylists say, in its combination with such colors as "sunset gold" and raspberry [a dark rose with a blue cast]. And pastel pinks and baby blue, ignored except for boudoir pillows since the days of the Gibson girl, again are to be combined with navy, black, and brown.

These colors, of course, are for women. Men's clothes will not be so restrained, delegates to the Merchant Tailor Designers' association at the Drake hotel say. As one brief, but quite effective example, they displayed a canary yellow flannel jacket, which Adonis is to slip over his matching striped bathing trunks, a silk muffler around his neck, for an hour at the bar between dips. It has been named "Cabana Extravagance."

A "Don't Dress" Dress.

To meet the men's don't dress for a drink attire, the Style Creators of Chicago have a "don't dress for dinner" dress. This, they say, is the new "must for spring." In other years, it has been called the cocktail dress. It is neither formal nor informal, is sheer and frilly, but has a short skirt. It is gay without being décolleté.

Some 10,000 merchants and buyers are expected in Chicago for the spring markets opening today. This includes nine trade and style shows and the semi-annual meetings of the Interstate Merchants' council.

U. S. ENGINEER PHONES BIRTHDAY GREETINGS TO KING OF BULGARIA

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 30.—(AP)—A Nebraska railroad engineer called up his friend, King Boris of Bulgaria, by trans-Atlantic telephone today and extended greetings to the royal family.

The engineer is Gus Phillips of Falls City, who became acquainted with King Boris in Bulgaria in 1932. Phillips and the king found mutual interests in railroad engineering problems.

"Your majesty, this is Phillips speaking from America," the engineer said. "I am extending you my sincere birthday greetings." The king answered, "Thank you very much for your kind wishes." Mrs. Phillips listened in at Falls City and added her birthday greetings.

"How is the weather there?" asked the king.

"Very stormy," Phillips replied.

"What time is it?" the king asked.

"After five in the morning," Phillips told him. [It was 1:30 p. m. in Bulgaria.]

During the conversation Princess Mariax Louise, 5 years old, chimed in with several "hellos." The call cost Phillips $31.

SLANG'S OKE, BUT NOT FOR DOPES; CATCH, PLEASE?

American peeps are snapping up their patter. They're getting smart to words, and it looks as if they've got something there. Slang's Oke, but not for dopes. If you don't catch:

Prof. Walter K. Smart of the Northwestern university school of commerce and journalism said yesterday that Americans are learning to express themselves better because they are learning more words. He gave his approval to slang, but warned against its over use.

"Much of our slang," he said, "is picturesque and keenly alive. Some of it is the inspiration of genius. The trouble is that after the genius employs it, every fool uses it, turning it into another bromide. The fellow who first said 'Stop monkeying with that' really had something. But the expression has been so overused it no longer has any imagery."

Named for T. Roosevelt; Veterans Want It Clear

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Just so there will be no mistake about it in years to come, Spanish-American war veterans want Roosevelt plaza here renamed. In a petition to the common council, the joint Buffalo city board of the United Spanish War Veterans has asked that it be redesignated "Theodore Roosevelt plaza."

A Cold Wave, Well Defined, Chills Chicago

Heating Hints

Saving the heat you get from your heating plant is as important as pouring on more fuel on cold days like these. What to do? Turn to page 3 for advice.

Chicago shivered last night as a new cold wave sent the mercury plunging toward the zero mark predicted for today by Forecaster J. R. Lloyd. The weather men said the western suburbs would have lower readings still.

The Chicago district faces several days of cold, wintry weather, he said, with snow likely tomorrow.

Meanwhile the cold wave raged through the northwest, past Chicago, and on into the east and south. New York City basked at 55.7 degrees as it awaited colder weather. There was a range of 104 degrees in temperature between the 28 below zero at Devils Lake, N. D., and Havre, Mont., and the 76 recorded in Brownsville, Tex.

Cold Waves Explained.

Minnesota, digging out of last week's storm, had more snow. In the upper peninsula of Michigan, rescuers were trying to reach seventy-five marooned men—lumberjacks—as snow piled up around their camp near Marquette.

His forecasting done, Mr. Floyd gave the hot stove weather fans something to talk about by explaining about cold waves.

They're relative, he said, but invariably chilly.

A cold wave, as defined by the weather bureau for Chicago, means a temperature of 10 above zero or lower, and a drop of 20 degrees or more in 24 hours. If the mercury gets down to zero or lower under the same conditions, the weather man calls it a severe cold wave.

A Gauge for Suffering.

But——

If high winds accompany the cold, he calls it a severe cold wave though the temperature falls no lower than 10. It's how much public suffers, as well as what his instruments say, that makes a cold wave.

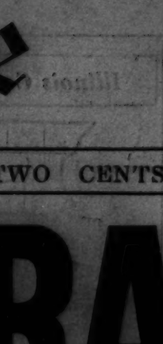
Up in Minneapolis, for instance, the citizens are more accustomed to cold than Chicagoans are. And so the weather man gives Minneapolis residents a handicap. It has to be zero up there before he'll call it a cold wave.

And he wishes you'd stop calling snowstorms blizzards. When strong winds pick up snow that has already fallen and blow it that's a blizzard. They happen in the great plains states.

Mystery Veils Shooting of Aid to Cummings

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Russell Hardy, a special assistant to Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, is in a hospital here tonight recovering from a bullet wound while police are hunting a blonde woman for questioning about the mysterious shooting of Hardy last night in Alexandria, Va., just across the Potomac river.



Russell Hardy.

Original reports of the shooting said Hardy was shot by a panhandler to whom he refused to give alms. The shooting occurred, according to police, when Hardy and his woman companion were entering Hardy's car.

Lieut. Edgar Sims of Alexandria police said Hardy admitted he had been accompanied by a woman and that he had sent her away from the shooting scene. Later, however, he said he was alone.

Leaves Hotel for Auto.

Employés of a hotel told police Hardy and a woman entered the hotel shortly before midnight, remained for a few minutes and departed for his car at the curb.

Sims said Hardy told him his woman companion did not know he had been shot and that Hardy had sent her to Washington by bus on the excuse that his car would not run. Hardy later insisted he was alone when shot.

The conflicting stories caused Alexandria police to hold Hardy under a $500 bond as a material witness in the shooting of himself.

Hardy Assails Police.

From his hospital bed in Washington Hardy said the Alexandria police were "treating me as a defendant instead of a complaining witness."

At the hospital, Hardy's wife wouldn't talk about the shooting, because, she said, it would be impossible for her to clear up the situation by saying anything.

Hardy's duties in the department of justice are the investigation and prosecution of anti-trust law violators. Recently he spent some time in Milwaukee, Wis., in an effort to prosecute automobile companies and their financing affiliates on charges of combining illegally.

Jackson His Superior.

At the time Hardy was pressing his Milwaukee investigation, his superior, Robert H. Jackson, who just has been appointed solicitor general of the United States, was seeking to compromise the cases against the automobile companies by inducing them to accept consent decrees.

Cummings complained to the house judiciary committee that Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger's dismissal of the federal grand jury while the government was seeking to settle the case obstructed justice. When Jackson and Hardy appeared before the committee they were placed under fire and Judge Geiger was exonerated.

STATE PROTEST ATTACKS COAL ACT'S LEGALITY

Order Petition Filed This Week.

Industry Rebels

PEORIA, Ill.—Business leaders attack arbitrary fixing of coal prices, contending that injurious rates peril industrial life of their city. Page 2.

MIAMI, Fla.—President William Green calls upon all members of the American Federation of Labor to withdraw from the C. I. O. controled Nonpartisan league. Page 11.

The state of Illinois will attack the constitutionality of the Guffey-Vinson act—known as the NRA of the coal industry—in a petition to be filed in Washington this week. Gov. Horner yesterday said he ordered the attack on the law itself to protect the Illinois coal industry from ruinous discrimination and to stop the rise in coal prices which has resulted from the rules and price schedules promulgated by the national bituminous coal commission, the creature of the Guffey-Vinson act.

The petition, which will be filed before the commission itself, may be followed by another attack by the state on the constitutionality of the law in the federal courts. The governor, a Democrat, declares that the rules and prices fixed by the commission are causing Illinois to lose its coal markets both in the state and in neighboring states.

Other Charges in Petition.

In addition to the frontal attack on the law Illinois' petition will object strenuously to the price schedules themselves and will allege that the commission has acted in an arbitrary manner, often without public hearings.

Gov. Horner had before him last night the first report of the staf he has organized to prepare the state's case. Among those advising the governor are James McSherry, state director of mines and minerals; Dr. Walter Voskuil, economist for the state geological survey; Alex Wilson, administrative assistant to Gov. Horner, and several lawyers.

The petition will allege that the state acts to protect the interests of the consumer of coal and the workers, who face loss of their jobs in the industry because Illinois coal cannot meet the new competition from other states favored by the commission and the mine owners. More than a million Illinois residents make their living, directly or indirectly, from the production and sale of bituminous coal, the petition will allege.

Two Points to Be Raised.

Lawyers at work on the petition last night said the two points which will be raised against the law's constitutionality are:

First, that the rights of the state are infringed by the federal government in that the commission has presumed to subject intrastate coal—that is, coal produced, sold, and used within the state—to the regulations governing interstate commerce;

Second, that the commission's price fixing orders were made secretly and without proper public hearing, thereby depriving producers of property without due process of law and in violation of the fifth amendment to the constitution.

Elaborating on the second point the petition will say that the effect of the price fixing has been to take business from one coal operator in one state and hand it over to another operator in another state.

Seek Public Hearings.

Attorneys expert in administrative procedure of other governmental commissions insist that the information upon which a decision is based most certainly should be disclosed. The present freight rate case before the Interstate Commerce commission is given as an example. The I. C. C. held public hearings in all parts of the country in which shippers and the public were allowed to present their cases, despite the contention of the railroads that their request for a 15 per cent freight rate increase was caused by a financial emergency.

On the other hand, it is contended, the coal commission has issued orders affecting the entire nation from behind locked doors.

Illinois authorities point to one drastic order as an example of those being issued by the coal commission. The state purchasing department was considering the insertion of a clause in contracts with Illinois coal producers which would provide for the refunding of the difference between the price paid for Illinois coal and that which would be charged should the Guffey-Vinson act be declared invalid.

But the state was informed that the commission had issued an order forbidding the insertion of such a clause in any contract signed by a coal code producer. In other words, the petition will allege, the state has been hogtied by the commission on coal prices, and then has been prohibited from untying itself.

Illinois Pays More.

Information gathered by the governor's staf discloses that the state government can buy Indiana and West Virginia coal much cheaper than coal from Illinois mines. Some grades of Illinois coal cost 50 cents a ton more than that from other states under the price code which went into effect last Dec. 16. Although the state is continuing to buy Illinois coal, private buyers are giving their patronage to coal dealers of other states.

Illinois's objection to the act and its administration is based also on the fact that the state has no representative on the commission, although Illinois produced more coal in 1936 than the combined production of four states that are represented on the board.

The minimum rates fixed by the commission, Illinois coal men say, give a tremendous advantage to Pennsylvania and West Virginia. In those states, the C. I. O., headed by John L. Lewis, who was active in pushing the Guffey-Vinson act through congress, is now unionizing the mines, whose enforced closing would cut off union dues and stop Lewis' unionization drive. The Illinois mines have long been unionized.

Sacrifice Illinois Miners.

Thus, the coal men assert, Illinois union miners are being sacrificed because they are already in the fold.

Those at work on the state's petition assert that the only recourse possible from an order of the coal commission is an appeal for the intervention of the consumers' counsel, or a request that some state agency enter the case. They add that the consumers' counsel is unlikely to put up a real fight against the commission, for the counsel's office, with its $300,000 a year budget, is dependent upon the commission itself—the body the consumers' counsel is paid to fight. Thus far, Illinois lawyers say, the consumers' counsel has almost without exception failed to sway the commission's rulings and policies.

URGES RECORD OF ROOSEVELT PRESS PARLEYS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Accusing the President of wasting three months without producing a recovery program and of rocking the boat with inflammatory utterances, Representative Bertrand H. Snell [R., N. Y.], minority leader of the house, today proposed that the White House press conferences be made a public record.

Snell referred to recent pronouncements on holding companies and other matters made by the President at his press conferences. When these affected business adversely, he said, Mr. Roosevelt modified his statements and said they had been wrongly interpreted.

He suggested a record of the conferences be kept for reference in cases in which the President felt his remarks had been misinterpreted.

Illinois Coal Mines

The number of coal mines in each county is indicated on this map of Illinois.

Illinois ranks third among the states in the production of coal with 57 of its 102 counties active producers. The counties and their production in 1936 follow:

County—	Produc'n in tons.	County—	Produc'n in tons.

The total production for the year from these Illinois mines was 51,475,899 tons. These figures were compiled by the state department of mines and minerals.

NATIONAL GUARD OFFICERS MAP '38 PROGRAM TODAY

Commanding officers of the Illinois National Guard will meet this afternoon in the 33d division headquarters at 208 South La Salle street to plan the year's training program. The meeting has been called by Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, division commander.

Arrangements already have been made for the entire division to be mobilized next summer for two weeks of field training at Camp Grant, Rockford. It will be the first time in three years that all the division has been mobilized at the same camp.

PEORIA REBELS AT INJUSTICES OF FIXED COAL PRICE

Threat to Its Industrial Life, Says Complaint.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Declaring that Peoria's position as a manufacturing center is being jeopardized by enforcement of the price features of the Guffey-Vinson coal act, Peoria business leaders today were preparing to attack the measure. One of the principal complaints of Peoria is the fact that, under the commission's price schedule, this city loses its advantage of proximity to large coal fields because coal shipped to the city from its close-by mine area now costs more than coal sent in from other points.

It is charged that the minimum price schedule of the Guffey-Vinson act will add from $800,000 to $1,000,000 annually to Peoria's fuel bill.

Takes Away Natural Advantages.

In a complaint filed with the national bituminous coal commission at Washington some days ago by the association of commerce, it is declared that Peoria's growth has been due almost entirely to the natural resources which have attracted industries here. These include transportation, water, and low cost coal.

"Coal mines in and around Peoria," the complaint states, "have resulted in coal being supplied to our industries at a minimum cost. Under the price order of the national bituminous coal commission this advantage is removed artificially."

The association declares that prices of coal produced in mines north of Springfield, Ill., have been increased from 40 to 75 cents a ton by the minimum price order. The present pegged price averages $2.27 a ton.

Southern Fields Favored.

The association insists that southern Illinois coal was not raised in price to the same extent as was the Peoria district coal.

On the other hand the cost of Peoria coal to other manufacturing towns, such as La Salle, Rock Island and Bloomington, is $1.60 a ton plus the freight rate, which is 43 cents a ton, or $2.03 delivered. Thus, it is stated, these other towns now have an advantage of 24 cents a ton over Peoria.

The association declares that the mines which are suffering from the artificial price fixing buy supplies in Peoria and employ labor that does its shopping in Peoria. When these mines shut down, it is said, a considerable part of Peoria's business will be curtailed.

Lineup of Coal Commission

Illinois, the third largest producer of bituminous coal in the nation, has no voice among these arbiters of the industry. They are left to right, front row: C. E. Smith, C. F. Hosford Jr., Col. Thomas Haymond, Percy Tetlow. Back row, Walter H. Maloney, Pleas Greenlee, and John C. Lewis.

ILLINOIS SEEKS A VOICE ON COAL CONTROL BOARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Senators James Hamilton Lewis and William H. Dieterich tonight announced they will demand the next vacancy on the national bituminous coal commission for Illinois.

They said they will act to obtain a seat on the body for the third largest bituminous coal producing state in the union as protests poured into their offices from coal operators, miners, and consumers against the regulations and prices fixed by the commission. The operators and miners charged that the commission's regulations discriminate against Illinois coal and the consumers raised their voices against increased coal prices.

The senators were encouraged by reports that two members of the commission will resign shortly. One is Chairman Charles F. Hosford Jr., and the other is C. E. Smith.

THIEVES SMASH LOOP WINDOWS, FLEE WITH LOOT

Three thieves early yesterday smashed windows in five stores in and near the loop and fled with merchandise valued at several thousand dollars. The stores were:

The C. D. Peacock jewelry at 101 South State street, where fifteen watches were stolen; the Charles I. Herron jewelry at 416 South Michigan avenue, where a number of items of unknown value were taken; the Boston store, 2 North State street, where furs valued at more than $1,000 were stolen; the Harry Mitchell clothing store at 20 East Jackson boulevard, where a quantity of cloth was taken; and the Goldblatt Brothers department store at 377 South State street, where articles of unknown value were stolen.

AMERICANS WIN RADIO SPELLING BEE OVER BRITISH

Boston, Mass., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Americans vanquished the British today in their first transatlantic spelling bee. The final score was 28 to 24. The eight American spellers who were chosen from Harvard and Radcliffe colleges competed against eight British from Oxford university in a forty-five minute international spelling match over an intricate two way radio hookup arranged between Boston and London. Among the words misspelled by the contestants were:

Corollary, daguerrotype, mulligatawny, anonymity, palfreys, braggadocio, isosceles, pettifoggery, gamboge and trachea.

DAVE WILL GO TO COURT TODAY; SO WILL CAROL G.

Capt. David Wood of the Winnetka fire department and Mrs. Carol de Windt Gardner—who became known as "Precious Dave" and "Carol G." during the hearings of Mrs. Gertrude Wood's separate maintenance suit against the handsome captain several months ago—will appear in separate courtrooms in the county building today for simultaneous hearings in their respective marital difficulties.

Capt. David Wood.

Capt. Wood is scheduled to explain to Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan why he is $60 behind in alimony payments. On the floor above, Mrs. Gardner, member of the well-known North Shore family, will ask Superior Judge John J. Lupe to make several changes in her original divorce decree from Albert Sellner Gardner, 163 East Walton street.

Her petition includes a request for support money for herself and two children, Carol, 14, and William, 12, and that Gardner's visiting days with the children in Barrington be changed from Saturdays to Sundays.

COUNTY CALLS ON STATE TO ACT IN KARATZ CASE

Joliet Judge May Face Suit for Contempt.

Attorney General Otto Kerner, who recently branded as criminals every one who has anything to do with slot machines, was called upon yesterday to act in the conflict between Cook county authorities and Circuit Judge Edwin L. Wilson of Joliet, who by an injunction protected the operation of slot machines in Joliet for more than a year.

The issue now is whether Judge Wilson was in contempt of the Illinois Supreme court in freeing a Cook county convict whose conviction had been upheld, or whether Chief Deputy Sherif Edward Scholler and Assistant State's Attorney James Cunningham of Cook county were in contempt of Judge Wilson when they rearrested the convict in Joliet last Friday. The convict in the case is Abraham Karatz, former St. Paul lawyer who in 1935 was sentenced to one to five years for plotting to loot an insurance company. He is being held in the Cook county jail.

Crowley Seeks Action.

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley said yesterday he had asked Attorney General Kerner to take official cognizance of the situation. If Cunningham and Scholler are to be cited for contempt by Judge Wilson they would ordinarily be prosecuted by State's Attorney James Burke of Will county. If the action should be against Judge Wilson it would be Attorney General Kerner's duty to prosecute.

Judge Wilson said yesterday he could not comment on what action he proposes to take against the Cook county officials because the matter is still pending before him. A hearing on the writ of habeas corpus granted by Judge Wilson on Jan. 14, freeing Karatz on $5,000 bail as he was on the way into the penitentiary, is scheduled for next Friday.

Says He Did Not Know Karatz.

Judge Wilson said he had never seen Karatz before the convict was brought into his court on Jan. 14. Prosecutor Crowley said he had been informed by a Mrs. Mary Walker of Joliet that she had given Karatz a power of attorney last July to act for her in a bond matter when Karatz represented himself as a friend of Judge Wilson.

The judge also said he had never seen Attorney Arnold Harris until he came before him with a request that he issue a writ to save Karatz from prison. Harris said he was acting for Attorney Harold Levy, who has practiced before Judge Wilson.

Crowley said Harris told him he waited in Judge Wilson's court until he was sure that Karatz had crossed the line into Will county, en route to prison under guard, before he asked Judge Wilson to intervene. The allegation on which he asked action was that the grand jury which indicted Karatz had been illegally impaneled.

The Slot Machine Fight.

Joliet residents waged a fight for more than a year to rid the county of slot machines after Judge Wilson on April 27, 1936, issued an injunction forbidding county officials to confiscate the machines or arrest the slot machine ring principals.

On May 18, 1936, Representative Joseph Sam Perry, whose senatorial district includes Joliet, asked the legislature to impeach Judge Wilson for "willful and corrupt conduct in office and high crimes and misdemeanors." By a vote of 63 to 61 the lower branch of the assembly decided against an investigation leading to impeachment charges.

Three days after the Perry resolution was filed in the legislature Judge Wilson dissolved the injunction and slot machines vanished from his home county.

Judge Wilson was formerly chairman of the Will county Democratic central committee. Before his election as circuit judge in 1933 he was not a practicing lawyer in Joliet, but was employed by a stationery firm in Chicago. His present term expires next year.

Snowplow Runs Under Train, but Backs Away

Fond du Lac, Wis., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The North Western railroad tracks between Malone and Silica, 12 miles east of here, were clear of snow today, but only after an unusual accident had threatened to block them anew. A snowplow cutting through a huge drift ran underneath the locomotive of a freight train stalled on the other side. Crew members were unaware it was waiting there. No one was injured and the locomotive was lowered to the tracks by backing up the snowplow.

USE OF A FEW SIMPLE TRICKS WILL SAVE HEAT

Roof Insulation Helps Keep House Warm.

If your home is cold on bitter days, don't rail against your heating system and turn your furnace up to a fever heat. Instead, try out a few household tricks as old as the Mayflower and as modern as slide fasteners.

Using these simple methods, leading architects and heating engineers said yesterday, you will conserve heat, save on your fuel bills, and end up a better person, in temper as well as in health, when spring rolls north again.

Top Ceiling Weakest.

In saving heat, remember that the ceiling of your top story is the weakest part of your house, Peter Mayo, architect, advised. Next in importance come outside walls, window stripping, storm windows, and insulation under floors over an excavated area.

"If you fix up one of these things a year," Mr. Mayo added, "you will find that by the end of five years you will have an exceptionally warm and cozy house no matter how poor the heating system."

Many architects believe that three-fourths of the lost household heat escapes through the ceiling of the top floor. Insulation with rough wood to a depth of three to four inches would effect a tremendous saving, Mr. Mayo suggested.

Other Heat Saving Suggestions.

Other suggestions, for the ceiling and all other heat leakage spots, are:

If your attic is not floored, lay any kind of inexpensive insulation between the ceiling joists.

If you cannot get to your attic and your bedrooms are cold, nail insulation board to the existing ceiling.

If your home is air conditioned be sure when you shut off the registers at night that you also shut off the return duct. Few owners realize this should be done.

If you keep your bedroom windows open at night and your closed bedroom door is not stripped, throw a rug before it.

Keep Moderate Fire.

If you have a heating plant fired by gas, oil, or stoker, don't turn it too low at night. You spend more fuel starting it up again during severe cold spells.

If you burn coal, keep the grates free from clinkers. Be careful, too, about ashes choking the furnace. They retard combustion and prevent proper heating.

In case of sickness, where the temperature in a room should be raised quickly, cover the entire glass window pane with a sheet of cellophane tacked to the indoor face of the panes. This will not keep out the light. If light is not essential, paper is a fine insulator.

Fabric Against Wall Helps.

If an outside wall of a room is cold, hang a heavy rug or fabric over it. The thickness of the fabric, with the layer of air behind it, will keep out much of the chill.

If your cellar is warm and your house cold, cover the boiler with asbestos as an insulator, or cut a register over the boiler and induct the heat into the house.

If you have a fireplace, close the damper in the throat of the chimney, thus keeping the hot air from escaping. If there are no dampers, stuff the chimney with hard lumps of paper.

And, if you have no humidifiers in your home, keep a teakettle boiling for a few hours in the coldest weather as it will keep the air warm and moist. If there is humidity in the air, a temperature of 68 degrees will seem much warmer than a temperature of 72-73 degrees when the air is dry.

WRECKAGE OF BRIDGE CAUSES NEW ICE JAM IN GORGE AT NIAGARA

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Niagara's wrecked honeymoon bridge settled deeper into the rain-softened ice in the Niagara river gorge today while experts debated the possibility of salvaging the span.

Any salvage undertaking would be extremely hazardous, in the opinion of Daniel A. Roblin of Buffalo, head of a wrecking concern. "It could only be accomplished by stretching a cable across the gorge, with a basket suspended from it in which men could work with torches," he said. "The salvage operations would cost at least $70,000, while the scrap value of the 2,600 tons of steel is about $31,000."

The bridge, which crashed Thursday after the ice jam had torn away its moorings, is a menace as well as a tourists' delight. The tangle of steel is acting as a huge net, catching the new ice to create a jam within a jam. When the bridge sinks through the ice into the river, it will catch drift and debris and build a damlike obstruction just below the falls, according to experts.

Chicago's Dance Yields $10,000 in Paralysis Drive

A total of $10,000 was collected Saturday night to aid the fight on infantile paralysis by means of a ball at the Palmer house on President Roosevelt's birthday, Frank W. Luther, director of the drive in Chicago, announced yesterday.

EXPOSE HIS SHINS TO BRITISH GAZE? KENNEDY BALKS

Washington D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Joseph Patrick Kennedy, the first descendant of Irish kings to be named ambassador to Great Britain, will not present his credentials at the court of St. James's in knee breeches.

"Not on your life," the red headed Boston Irishman replied when he was asked whether he would follow the example of his predecessors and don diplomatic shorts for court appearances.

The first American envoy to wear the ceremonial breeches in this generation at the Court of St. James's was the late Col. George Harvey, who was appointed ambassador to London by President Harding.

The late Andrew Mellon, during his service at St. James's, adopted a compromise. Invited as Ambassador Mellon he wore knee pants; invited as Mr. Mellon he wore regulation pants.

Charles G. Dawes, who went to London from Chicago, said "Hell'n Maria. No!" when he was asked to exhibit his calves at the court. Kennedy's predecessor, the late Robert W. Bingham, followed the Dawes code for the first two years he was at the court but finally was prevailed upon to get into diplomatic tights.

AIR RAIDS KILL 158 WAR WAIFS IN BARCELONA

Rebel Aviators Attack Twice; Toll 350.

Spain continued all week and was the chief characteristic of a warfare sifted on the chief towns from Seville to Valladolid.

Salamanca was bombed twice by the Loyalists, the last time on Friday. About a dozen persons were killed in the course of the two raids, and perhaps thirty-five or forty injured.

Steelwork Twisted.

Property damage was not extensive, but the wreckage left by Loyalist missils nevertheless makes an appalling sight. At a spot where one of the biggest bombs fell, near the center of the city, two whole houses were blasted to pieces. Iron girders holding the masonry may be seen twisted and bent like thin wire by the force of the explosion of 80 pound bombs. All windows in nearby houses were broken. And houses two hundred yards down the street were scarred by broken pieces. Inside, the two houses were wrecked from roof to floor.

This damage was done in the first raid. The second one two days ago was completely unsuccessful because of excellent artillery defense which was put up by the anti-aircraft batteries and pursuit planes which surrounded and chased the Loyalist bombers back over the lines and shot down one of them. The crew of this plane was reported here to be Russian. All were killed.

Alarms Quickly Heeded.

Today Señor Perez Cardenal, president of the Salamanca provincial council, and other Salamanca authorities visited the officers and soldiers of the anti-aircraft batteries, congratulated them on their brilliant defense on Friday, and presented the troops with sixty bottles of brandy.

Other most important raids which were visited on rebel Spain were at Seville and Valladolid, where some damage was caused, according to reports now available, but few people were killed. Dugouts and refuges had been arranged at close intervals and the alarm sirens were sounded soon enough to enable most every one to take shelter.

Salamanca papers, editorializing on Loyalist bombings of civilian populations on a large scale, denied the Loyalist claims and declare that Nationalist planes have never bombed towns behind the lines, except where there was a military objective—that is, stores of munitions or communications centers.

Diplomats Plentiful.

Salamanca, as headquarters town, hums with the usual activity. The diplomatic life of Nationalist Spain is centered here in a few hotels around the main square, or Plaza Mayor, which offers a colorful mixture of civilian and military life.

The Japanese legation is instaled in the Grand hotel on a floor above the British. The Germans, Italians, and Portuguese have diplomatic representatives here, and it is expected in Salamanca that recognition will be accorded shortly by Austria and Hungary and others, perhaps some of the Baltic states.

MINER DIES OF CAR INJURIES.

Du Quoin, Ill., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Abe Williams, 45 years old, a coal miner of Christopher, died here last night as a result of injuries incurred in an automobile wreck. The car driven by Williams was struck by another as he turned from the highway to report for duty at the Kathleen mine at Dowell, five miles south of here.

Island Base for Air Raids on Spain

Mileage figures indicate flying distances from Mallorca to principal cities of eastern coast of Spain. Rebels hold Mallorca and have used the island as a base for numerous air raids, such as the one yesterday on Barcelona, in which more than 350 were killed. Rebel headquarters at Salamanca charged that the loyalists, too, were bombing undefended cities behind the battle lines.

U. S. MAY CALL MRS. ROSS FOR KIDNAPER TRIAL

Government officials discussed last night the possibility of calling Mrs. Charles Ross as a witness against John Henry Seadlund, alias Anders, when he goes on trial in the federal court for the kidnaping and murder of her husband. Mrs. Ross would be able to identify her husband's writing in one of the kidnap ransom notes, and might otherwise be effective as a witness.

An indictment charging violation of the Lindbergh kidnap law, will be returned against Seadlund before a federal district judge today.

JAPS SLAY 3,000 IN VICTORIES ON 2 CHINESE FRONTS

Guerrilla Bands Rounded Up and Shot.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Three thousand Chinese soldiers tonight were reported slain in smashing Japanese victories on the two principal war fronts and in guerrilla combat west of Shanghai.

Cold and sleet gripped plains, river valleys and mountain lands along the Lunghai railway running from the upper Kiangsu province coast into the heart of China.

A Japanese army spokesman, disclosing operations of the last forty-eight hours, said "at least 3,000 Chinese" were killed on the southern side of the Lunghai front and in the Wuhu and Soochow areas of the Yangtze river valley

Japanese Take No Prisoners.

The Japanese said their forces encountered 5,000 Chinese west of Mingkwang along the Tientsin-Pukow [Nanking] railway some 100 miles south of its junction with the Lunghai line at Suchow.

"After a sharp battle the Chinese flee, leaving 2,000 dead," the spokesman said. The Japanese took no prisoners.

Another thousand Chinese, part of the guerrilla forces that had been knifing at the Shanghai-Nanking supply lines, were rounded up and shot south of Soochow and about 50 miles west of Shanghai. Two thousand others were said to have been dispersed.

The irregulars were without uniforms, the spokesman explained, and "they therefore had lost their status as soldiers and had become snipers to be shot on sight."

Clash Again at Wuhu.

On the Wuhu front, in the Yangtze valley southwest of Nanking and about 200 miles west of Shanghai, there was another fierce clash between the Chinese and the Japanese captors of Wuhu. The spokesman said the Chinese lost heavily.

Wuhu, whose fall undermined the Chinese defense of Nanking and aided the Japanese to take the Chinese capital Dec. 13, had been the objective of a strong counter offensive.

On the northern side of the Lunghai front in lower Shantung province the Japanese said the situation was little changed.

Chinese sources, however, said a column which had forced the Japanese out of Mengyin was driving northwest to outflank the invaders at Taian, some 50 miles behind their spearhead along the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

The Japanese said one of their forces, previously reported surrounded in Tsining, 100 miles northwest of the Lunghai and Tientsin-Pukow railways junction, had repulsed a spirited Chinese attack.

The Lunghai railway has long figured in Chinese military plans as the country's last line of defense. From Suchow, about 375 miles northwest of Shanghai, Japanese could use it to stab on into the Chinese interior and then turn south on the Peking-Hankow railway for assault on centrally located Hankow, present Chinese capital.

After a brief interval the Japanese air force resumed bombing along the Lunghai from the sea westward to Suchow.

The prospect of air and land attacks farther westward endangered nearly 100 Protestant missionaries, mostly Americans and Canadians stationed at or near Kaifeng, about 175 miles from Suchow.

Approximately 300 foreign missionaries were endangered throughout the Lunghai war zone.

JAPAN BELIEVES SLAP APOLOGY SATISFIES U. S.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 31 [Monday].—A Japanese foreign office spokesman announced today that the case involving the slapping of John M. Allison, third secretary of the United States embassy at Nanking, is now regarded as a closed incident as a result of apologies expressed to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew. Punishment of those responsible will be made, the spokesman said.

Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs Kensuke Horinouchi orally told Ambassador Grew last night that under whatever circumstances the sentry slapped the American it was an "extremely unfortunate occurrence." It was reported that the staf officer of the Japanese forces at Nanking presented an apology to Allison, which he accepted.

THE RULES

WHO CAN ENTER? This game is open to everybody—men, women, boys, and girls everywhere—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families.

WHAT TO DO? Every week day a picture containing the scrambled name of a movie star will be published until 36 have appeared. Unscramble the name. Use every letter in the picture. Write or print the name on the line provided, or on any piece of paper. Hold all answers until you have the complete set of 36. DO NOT SEND THEM IN SEPARATELY.

WHERE TO SEND? Mail your entry by First Class Mail to "Movie Stars," Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. With your entry send a letter, giving your name and address and telling in 50 words or less, who is your favorite movie star and why. Letters will be considered only in the event of ties in naming the stars. Entries must be in the office of the Chicago Tribune by midnight, 12 days after Name No. 36 has appeared.

BASIS OF AWARDS. Entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree that the judges' decisions will be final. Awards will be paid to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved, complete sets of unscrambled names. Neither handwriting nor elaborateness will count. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid.

GERMANS DEVOTE DAY TO PRAISE OF FUEHRER HITLER

Brass Bands Wake Berlin on 5th Anniversary.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—In the square opposite the chancellory, which was cleared of trees to make space for the crowds, Nazis gathered throughout the day to pay homage to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler on the fifth anniversary of his assumption of power. Brass bands stationed throughout Berlin played an 8 a. m. reveille calling residents out to celebrate.

For the first time in years Der Fuehrer's face remained stern almost all day, and relaxed only occasionally in a smile when the voices of the especially enthusiastic groups reached him. While the enthusiasts packed the chancellory square, the assemblies in the adjoining streets were very thin.

In one ceremony Hitler awarded national prizes for accomplishments in art and science. He gave jeweled stars to four men, including Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, official Nazi philosopher and creator of Teuton neo-paganism.

Gen. Goering an Absentee.

Chiefs of the storm troopers, chiefs of the German navy, Dr. Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, and Admiral Erich Raeder, commander of the German navy, frequently appeared with Hitler on the balcony from which he reviewed the annual torchlight procession.

Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of aviation, who was at Hitler's side on the historical night five years ago when Der Fuehrer was vested with the powers of chancellor by the late President Paul von Hindenburg, was conspicuously absent today. The absence of Heinrich Himmler, the chief of the Schutzstaffel and the German police forces, and Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of war, who recently has been under criticism for marrying beneath his rank, also made a deep impression on the prominent Nazis watching the scene. They saw in the absence of these men the indirect confirmation of rumors that Goering, Himmler, and Von Blomberg are busy with the investigation of activities of royalists and other alleged "reactionary subversive activities."

Police Shadow Royalists.

In recent days, police watchfulness over people who are suspected of sympathizing with the royalists has increased tremendously. On Jan. 27, the birthday of the former kaiser, and this week-end, the saloons, wine-halls and cafes frequented by former royalists were crowded with newcomers, which, regular customers believed, were police agents watching out for people who might attempt to toast the ex-kaiser.

In Pomerania, which is a stronghold of the Junkers, the Nazis feel that royalist feeling is stronger than it was a year ago. The resentment against Nazi farming legislation has increased latent royalist sympathies of the population, but they are negligible as compared with the strength of the Nazi forces.

Girl Flees from War

Mrs. J. Rodd Moffatt and Mary, who made trip from China alone to live with Moffatts in Chicago.

Mary, a blonde little girl whose Russian mother is somewhere in Shanghai, arrived in Chicago yesterday to live with Mr. and Mrs. J. Rodd Moffatt, 221 East Superior street.

Mrs. Moffatt said she and her husband came across the little girl, who is 7 years old, four years ago in China. Her Swedish father was dead; her mother in want. The Moffatts took Mary into their home. Then in March they returned to America by way of Europe, and Mary crossed the Pacific to meet them in San Francisco in June. When fall came the Moffatts couldn't return to the far east because of the war. They came to Chicago to get settled and then sent for Mary.

Mary hasn't been adopted yet, but the Moffatts expect to adopt her. She speaks Russian, French, Swedish, and English.

EGYPTIAN ARABS PROTEST BRITISH PALESTINE ACTS

Hint Aid to Zionists May Stir Moslem Uprising.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Jan. 30.—Egypt's Arabs today for the first time are voicing sentiments regarding guerilla warfare going on in Palestine between British regulars and their co-religionists—the Mohammedans of the Palestine area. They made a formal protest against the British Palestine policy in a letter signed by ninety-two senators and deputies of the Egyptian parliament. The letter was sent to British Ambassador Sir Miles Lampson, former high commissioner in Egypt.

Leading Egyptians Sign.

The protest constitutes a sudden aggravation of a situation which the British find a thorn in their side. It is Great Britain's worst fear that the whole Arab world may be stirred to sympathy for their Palestine kinsmen.

Signers of the letter include the richest landlords, newspaper owners, generals, prominent professional men, and the highest Bedouin chief, Sheik Hamad El Bassel Pasha.

After reminding the British that the populations of Egypt and Palestine are bound together by ties of language, religion, race, tradition, and proximity, the protest goes on to accuse the British of pursuing a policy regarding Zionism which they themselves have admitted is erroneous.

Calls Policy "Despotism."

In conclusion the letter expresses the hope that the British will give up "a policy of despotism toward the Arab nation and the Moslem world."

The use of the phrase "Arab nation" was tonight particularly exciting the attention of the local Britishers as marking another step toward Arab national consciousness, although the so-called "nation" is still a chimera.

Strike Record Depth

Comparison of the depth of the oil well at Wasco, Cal., with the Grand Canyon.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The Continental Oil company broke the world record for depth drilling with its operations in a wildcat well near Wasco, Cal.

Drillers passed the deep exploration mark of 12,780 feet, by going down 12,790 feet.

The company reported coring shale with streaks of oil sand between 12,603 and 12,615 feet. The expectation now is that the drill will continue to 13,000 feet.

NO JOBS FOR JEWS TO CONTINUE AS RUMANIAN POLICY

Premier Promises There Will Be No Terrorism.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Premier Octavian Goga today echoed King Carol's assurance to the world that Rumania would strive to meet its Jewish problem without inhumanity.

"Neither today nor at any other time will there be acts of terrorism against the Jews or anything resembling a pogrom," the premier said.

There was no immediate modification, however, of Goga's anti-Semitic program. So far the program has entailed little actual violence, but economic and social pressure on Jews has been increasing day by day.

Goga's policy seems to be to spare them physically, but to ease them from their jobs, eliminate them from commercial, political, and social leadership and make Rumania an extremely inhospitable land to Jews.

Suppresses Leading Newspapers.

Examination of Goga's anti-Semitic program in little more than a month in office revealed a dozen outstanding measures:

1. The suppression of three Bucharest newspapers—Dimineata, the largest in Rumania with 150,000 circulation; Lupta with 30,000, and Adevenul with 70,000.

2. Discharge of all Jewish employes in state service.

3. Regulations, particularly against liquor dispensers, making it virtually impossible for Jews to work or live in villages.

4. Prohibition in various communities of kosher slaughtering of cattle.

5. An order making it illegal for a Jewish household to employ gentile maids less than 40 years old. Enforcement of the order was postponed until April 1 when it became apparent the government was running into an embarrassing unemployment situation.

6. Expulsion of Jews from the Rumanian Bar association. Unless members, lawyers cannot practice.

Barred From State Hospitals.

7. Elimination of Jewish doctors from state hospitals and clinics.

8. Closing of Jewish circulating libraries on the grounds that they "promulgated communist propaganda."

9. Regulations, such as requiring stores to be open Saturdays, which are offensive to orthodox Jews.

10. Requirement that widows of Jewish war veterans prove their citizenship before they are entitled to pensions.

11. A decree striking Jews from polling lists and requiring them to prove Rumanian citizenship within thirty days before permitting them to seek reëstablishment as voters.

12. An order prohibiting further employment of Jews as waiters in cafés or restaurants.

In some quarters the impression prevailed that the government's stringent measures were propaganda for parliamentary elections to be held March 2—thus capitalizing the wave of intense nationalism admittedly sweeping the country.

Britain Gives Warning.

GENEVA, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Great Britain warned Rumanian Foreign Minister Istrate Micescu tonight she would demand an extraordinary session of the league of nations council if Premier Octavian Goga enforced anti-Jewish measures promulgated by his government.

Viscount Cranborne, British undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, reminded Micescu that France and Britain were to assist the council president in observing the situation of Jews in Rumania during the sixty day period within which Goga's regime was to report on petitions of world Jewish organizations to the league for action.

SENATE IS EXPECTED TO DROP ANTI-LYNCH BILL FIGHT, GET BUSY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—An end to the legislative jam which for weeks has prevented senate action on major administration measures appeared to be in sight tonight.

The senate is expected to lay aside temporarily tomorrow the anti-lynching bill, which southern senators have been trying to talk to death in a prolonged controversy that delayed other business.

COMMERCE NO. 4

The Great Evolver

By CALEB

WATT watched steam worry a lid on a teakettle. Commerce took Watt's observations and made an industrial revolution.

Arkwright invented a spinning frame. Commerce embraced his idea and built cities of cotton and set fleets transporting fabrics over the earth.

Edison made a filament of thread glow in feeble incandescence. Commerce swept the filament into tungsten brilliance and a world-encircling industry.

Gutenberg, with a wooden press and a few handfuls of movable type, printed a beautiful Bible. Commerce multiplied his effort, gave universality and mobility to language, and set flowing rivers of printer's ink.

Scientists invented an electron tube. Commerce said, "The world is waiting for this," and put it to work in a dozen industries in a hundred jobs, and its utilization has only commenced.

It is the same with Goodyear's process of vulcanizing rubber. Commerce rubbed a magic lamp, and reliable tires and scores of other rubber products became practical.

George Westinghouse made up a crude airbrake. Commerce perfected it and set it to work, overcoming unbelievable inertias.

With Bell's telephone, Eli Whitney's cotton gin, Samuel Morse's telegraph, Fulton's steamboat, Leonardo da Vinci's dreams of wings, and the crude experiments of the alchemists of old, the story repeats itself.

Commerce is the great exploiter, the great promoter, sponsor, and entrepreneur. Commerce finds the seedling and raises the oak. Commerce discovers the dallying breeze of a new development and raises the whirlwind.

With the arts as well, commerce rears the towering monument where a first crude structure stood. With sculpture, painting, writing, and music, commerce has played the role of impresario, bringing them before the world to do their pieces and to be appreciated and applauded.

Our own part in the world of commerce is such that within our four walls you may place your fingers on blooms which have evolved and developed from, or are somehow related to, every one of the seeds of greatness mentioned above. There is no greater epitomizing, all-utilizing agency in the world today than the great department store.

U. S. REARMING IN A WORLD OF DICTATORSHIPS

Growing Mexican Crisis Cited as Factor.

clined much more had the private banks felt entirely free to exercise their judgment.

Largest Silver Producer.

Since Mexico is the world's largest silver producer, and silver is a highly important Mexican export commodity, the uncertainty surrounding the price of silver with the approaching expiration of the London silver agreement last December caused considerable uneasiness in Mexico City. Finance Minister Suarez hurried to Washington, where the silver purchase act still required Secretary Morgenthau to buy foreign silver at such price, in such amounts, and on such occasions as he deemed in the public interest.

When Washington announced officially that Mexican silver would not be bought during January, 1938, bitter protests were recorded in the Mexican papers. Great was their relief when, a few days later, it became known that the United States had extended its agreement with Mexico covering newly mined silver to the end of 1938, and had, moreover, agreed to buy at 45 cents per ounce 35 million ounces of silver accumulated by Mexico during the life of the London silver agreement.

Eyes on League Action.

Interest in the situation in the far east now centers in the action of the league of nations on the pending proposal to furnish arms and ammunition to China. As the President indicated in his Chicago speech and again in his letter to Alfred M. Landon the Roosevelt administration would be disposed to coöperate with the league in measures of this character to resist the aggression of Japan upon China. The proposition of American participation in concerted action against Japan has been the subject of White House conferences in the last few days.

Acting as a brake upon the President's inclinations is the state of opinion in congress and the country at large. Mr. Roosevelt has been pretty thoroughly convinced that the country is not ready to support him in the project of joining in an international "quarantine" of Japan which he broached in his Chicago speech.

Congressional critics of Roosevelt's armament program today included Representative G. H. Tinkham [R., Mass.] who declared the President had in mind "an aggressive foreign war by the United States." This country "is being armed," he charged, "to enter a world war on the side of Great Britain."

Called Rebel Chief

Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, who is said to be head of a rebel army of 100,000 Fascisti in the hills of Mexico receiving arms and ammunition from Germany.

NAVY AIRPLANE DOWN AT SEA; 5 FLYERS SAVED

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The dominion wireless station at Bull Harbor reported the five man crew of a U. S. navy plane was rescued near Goose Island this morning by Canadian vessels after heavy seas forced the flyers to abandon their nearly submerged ship and take to a rubber emergency boat.

The navy plane was forced down on the open sea yesterday by engine trouble on a flight to Sitka, Alaska, from Seattle.

The five men clinging to the bobbing boat were rescued by an unnamed fishing craft and transferred to the Canadian coastal vessel Catala.

DIPHTHERIA HITS FIVE OF FAMILY; TWO CHILDREN DIE

After two children of Bernard Friepartner, 422 North Kedzie avenue, died of diphtheria yesterday, three other children stricken with the disease were confined in the contagious disease ward in the County hospital. Friepartner, his wife, Catherine, and two other children are being treated by a health department physician for malnutrition in their home. The dead children are Rita May, 6 years old, and James, 4.

The family's plight was discovered by Policemen James Maskell and Charles Hibsch. Friepartner, a former railroad employé, has been out of a job for six months. Policemen at the Austin station took up a collection to purchase food for the family.

SCHOOLS TO PAY LOWER INTEREST ON '38 WARANTS

2½ Per Cent Is Rate for $31,000,000 Borrowings

Members of the board of education will be asked at their meeting today to confirm the sale of $31,000,000 in 1938 tax anticipation warants to five Chicago banks and a security brokerage firm at interest of 2¼ per cent.

This is one of the lowest rates in the history of the public schools. Although records do not show a lower one, there may have been a smaller rate in a few isolated instances during the pre-depression years when the warants were used merely as collateral to secure bank loans, said James B. McCahey, president of the board. However, at the depth of the depression, 1929 to 1933, a 6 per cent rate was necessary to tempt buyers, and not until 1935 did the rate go belw 3 per cent.

Banks Buy 63% of Levy.

Of the total sale $28,000,000 in educational fund warants represents approximately 63 per cent of the $45,000,000 pegged levy, which will be bought by the five banks. This is the largest single sale to such institutions in many years, according to Mr. McCahey, and reflects the improved condition of the board's finances, In the last few years the banks had refused to accept more than between 50 and 60 per cent of the levy in tax anticipation warants at the first sale.

The banks buying the educational fund warants are: First National bank, Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Northern Trust company, Harris Trust and Savings bank, and City National Bank and Trust company. To keep interest payments at a minimum, the warants will be delivered in $5,000,000 blocks each month except July and August from Feb. 15 to Sept. 15. The delivery dates are timed to meet the pay roll and other expenses of the board.

Balance in Building Fund Warants.

The balance of the sale, $3,000,000, which was negotiated last week, is in building fund warants, about 26 per cent of the $11,350,186 levy for 1938. More warants from this fund will be sold as the money is needed to finance the board's building program for this year, Mr. McCahey explained.

"The board is pleased to make this announcement," he said. "The transaction shows that our financial condition has improved and that others have faith in our ability to continue to keep within our budget."

McKellar Bill Denounced as Blow at Civil Service

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The National Civil Service Reform league in a statement today characterized the McKellar amendment to the pending independent offices appropriation bill as "the most brazen attempt that has yet been made to extend the spoils system in the federal government." Under the amendment, senate approval would be required for future appointments to positions paying $4,000 or more a year in all the independent agencies of the federal government.

FIND DESIGNER AND WIFE DEAD IN PLANE WRECK

Flagstaff, Ariz., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Gerard F. Vultee, airplane designer, and his wife were killed in the fiery crash of their plane against the slopes of a mountain, searchers reported today after struggling over miles of snow to find the bodies in the wreckage of the craft.

Three youths, members of a searching party, found the bodies after five army planes from March field, Cal., signaled the location of the wreckage.

Belief was expressed that Vultee, a veteran of many years of aviation, had experienced motor trouble while trying to fly through a blinding snowstorm yesterday.

Vultee, who was regarded as one of America's outstanding aeronautical engineers, was 38 years old. His wife, Sylvia Parker Vultee, was 27 years old.

5 DIE IN FIRE, 3 OTHERS HURT; BLAST IN HOME

Oxford, O., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Five persons, including four children, were burned to death here today when kerosene used to kindle a fire exploded. Three others were burned seriously. The dead: Mrs. Frank Boatright, 27 years old, and her two daughters, Illame, 8, and Peggy Jean, 14 months; Charles Garver, 6, and Phyllis Garver, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garver. The parents and their 4 month old baby were in a Hamilton hospital.

Industry Strides On!

DON'T you make the mistake of thinking that this "recession" or anything else can stop your country's onward march!

Something deep-rooted and changeless in our national character is competently on guard against that.

We mean the American heritage of enterprise — our bred-in-the-bone belief in more things for more people as the key to plenty — our will and skill to make things cheaper and better.

Typifying this in dramatic fashion is the new General Motors factory just dedicated in Detroit, for the mass production of new-type Diesel engines.

In this plant, GM will produce "packaged power" units, stationary and portable, for all purposes.

Applying to engines as small as 22 horsepower the engineering principles developed in the powerful Diesel locomotives that speed the modern high-utility streamline trains, we foresee the opening of vast new fields of usefulness on land, sea and in the air.

The press everywhere hails the significance of thus making limitless economical power available to the economic benefit of the whole people.

Inspiring as these possibilities are, they are most important not in themselves but because they are illustrative of the great principle involved, the principle underlying American achievement.

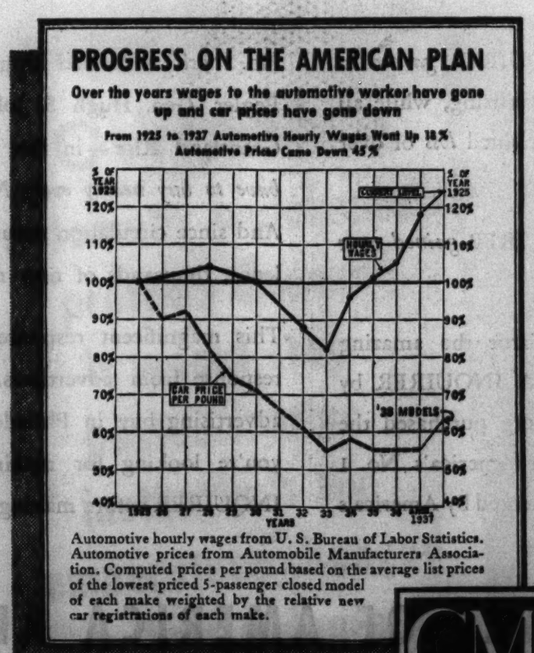
American industry has been able to produce a standard of living never before attained by any people in history, to keep on raising wages and lowering prices, by promoting and capitalizing technological progress.

This is our national genius, has been our special strength—remains our reliable hope.

By this is meant the application of science to industry's problems—new things to make, better ways of making present things, lowering costs to put more things within reach of more people—thus increasing work and creating additional national wealth. Such is the sound approach to the great national problem of unemployment, and a great opportunity as well. Increased wages, shorter hours, unless offset by increased productivity, is deflationary—it means less for all, especially those who have the least.

The automotive industry has been an outstanding exponent of the principle of capitalizing technological advances.

This has made possible a continuous advance in real wages, over the years, and at the same time a reduction in real prices, the lower priced car of today being equal in size and horsepower to the higher priced car of ten years ago.



Automotive hourly wages from U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. Automotive prices from Automobile Manufacturers Association. Computed prices per pound based on the average list prices of the lowest priced 5-passenger closed model of each make weighted by the relative new car registrations of each make.

GENERAL MOTORS

In this process volume is stimulated, resulting over the years in more jobs at higher wages for more workers.

General Motors, for example, invests each year tens of millions of dollars in new methods and new equipment, as the real approach toward constantly better values, better jobs and better living for all.

There may be halts, there may be setbacks, there may be temporary "recessions," but the instinct of American industry is progress.

Today in a thousand research laboratories throughout the land, bubbling in retorts and fermenting in bold American brains, are the secrets and means to meet the needs and capitalize the possibilities of the future.

Here is being evolved the real surety of America's tomorrow, expressed through the fruitful formula of more and better things at lower prices for more people everywhere.

Make no mistake, the way is forward. Industry strides on!

Dramatic gains, these. Yet they merely mirror the amazing improvements made in the PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER by its present publisher. When M. L. CLEW TO LOST COLONY FOUND CARVED IN ROCK

Virginia Dare's Massacre Told in Message.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 30.—[U. P.]—A message in Elizabethan English crudely carved on a slab of stone found on the bank of the Chowan river in North Carolina tonight was believed to hold the secret of the lost colony of Roanoke Island, N. C., and the fate of Virginia Dare, the first white child born in America.

Dr. Haywood J. Pearce Jr., professor of history at Emory university in Atlanta, revealed the finding of the stone and the inscriptions telling of the Indian massacre of the lost colony.

Message Carved on Stone.

The message was chiseled on a rough slab of quartz, found fifty miles inland from the original site of the settlers. If it is authentic it describes the last days of horror of the colony sent out by Sir Walter Raleigh under Ralph Lane and John White. Sir Richard Grenville commanded the fleet that brought the colonists under Lane. A week after landing the colonists Grenville returned to England.

Threatened with famine and from hostil Indians, all the colonists later left for England on Sir Francis Drake's fleet. A few days after their departure Grenville arrived at Roanoke Island with supplies and more colonists, fifteen of whom remained when he again sailed for England.

Although disappointed at the return of the first colony, Sir Walter Raleigh dispatched another company, consisting of 121 persons under White. When White arrived not one of the colonists left by Grenville was found. But he supposed they had moved inland and he left 121 other colonists on the island, among them his daughter, Eleanor White Dare, and sailed for England for supplies. When he returned he found no trace of the colonists.

Translates Lines on Stone.

On one side of the stone are the words:

"Ananias Dare & Virginia went hence to heaven 1591."

On the reverse side are lines which Dr. Pearce translated as follows:

"Father, soon after you went to England we came hither. Only misery and war for two years. Twenty-four surviving. The savages murdered all save seven of us. My child and Ananias too were slain with much misery."

[Signed]: "E. W. D."

Dr. Pearce said the initials "E. W. D." are supposed to be those of Eleanor White Dare, daughter of John White.

"If Eleanor Dare was the sender of this message the child referred to was Virginia Dare, the first white child born in America," Dr. Pearce said. "Ananias Dare, husband of Eleanor and father of Virginia, was one of the twelve assistants to White. Virginia was born Aug. 18, 1587."

SUPSECT ADMITS PART IN BATTLE FATAL TO YOUTH

Henry Cohn, 22 years old, of Lemont township, was held yesterday by the Willow Springs county highway police for the state's attorney on charges of manslaughter after he admitted he struck the blow that resulted in the death of a Chicago youth of 19 in a fight at a tavern at 87th street and Forest avenue, Willow Springs, late Saturday night.

Raymond Rogers, 3521 60th street, and Howard Ecklund, 18, who were at the tavern in a party of six, were standing at the side of a small porch at the rear of the tavern when Cohn appeared above them. An altercation began.

Rogers started up the steps leading to the porch and Cohn knocked him back down them, police were told. Rogers started up the flight again, and again was knocked down, striking his head on a stone in the yard. He died of a skull fracture.

HELEN STANSBURY.

A crowd of 30,000 persons visited the International amphitheater yesterday to view exhibits at the International Air show. Among the visitors was Miss Helen Stansbury, an official of United Air Lines, who is known as "the most air traveled woman" in the country, having covered 100,000 miles by plane during 1937. Mrs. Daisy Kirkpatrick, president of the 99 club, woman pilots' organization, presented her with a replica of the plane in which she has done most of her flying.

The air lines' big Douglas sleeper plane continued to attract the greatest attention with an average of 900 men, women and children passing through each hour. Next in popularity are the army corps attack plane and the exhibit by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics of working models of planes.

LYONS CONFERS WITH LEADERS TODAY ON NEW RELIEF SETUP

Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief commissioner, will confer today with members of the council of business leaders which recently completed a six weeks' investigation of relief distribution. The council reported the city's relief administration needs reorganization on a business rather than a social service basis.

Mr. Lyons is expected to discuss the council's recommendations with Walter L. Gergory, council president; Al Rose, director of the survey, and Stanley P. Farwell, business research expert. He will meet tomorrow with the entire council of eleven.

On Wednesday Mr. Lyons is to speak at a Chicago Association of Commerce forum in the Palmer house on the financial facts of relief.

RELIEF AGENCY ORDERS CUPID TO PAY HIS OWN WAY

Newlyweds Must Set Up Homes in Wisconsin.

Dodgeville, Wis., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The beaten path between the Iowa county marriage license bureau and county welfare headquarters no longer will be smooth for newlyweds. A barrier has been set up by the county relief committee to bar all who would walk that route.

Hereafter newlyweds will receive no relief in this county. Neither will persons who drive to relief headquarters in automobiles. This decision is not a sudden adoption of a hard-hearted attitude, but something that has been growing for a long time. Members of the committee say they have come to realize that relief for many is becoming a permanent institution.

Under state laws, virtually the only qualification necessary to obtain relief is to show need—any one can get it, citizen or alien.

Taxpayers See Trend of Relief.

In Iowa county, with an area of 781 square miles and a population of only 20,000, mostly rural, it was not difficult for taxpayers to see who is content to live permanently on relief, to see who drives to relief headquarters in automobiles, and to know who is getting married with the idea of depending on relief.

Members of the committee have announced that they will not permit conditions here which exist in Milwaukee where 11 per cent of relief clients who get married receive aid within a week after their marriage; 30 per cent within a month, and the remainder within six weeks.

The committee heard reports from Milwaukee county about how social workers gave glowing accounts of the comfort they supplied to newlyweds; how they paid reasonable rent and supplied food and clothing from the commissary, and in the case of pregnancy provided special food for the mother and eventually hospitalization. They decided Iowa county would have no more of that.

No One to Go Hungry.

"We don't want to see anyone go hungry," said Carl Rowe, a farmer who is chairman of the committee, "but we had to adopt the rule against marriage on relief to discourage some of the more ambitious relief seekers."

Rowe added that it was a bad example to place before young women and men of thrift and industry to see others settle their problems of love and economics so simply.

Rowe is unable to estimate how many Iowa county couples have been married on relief.

"But it's enough," he declared, "and we don't want any more."

FIVE HOODLUMS IN TAVERN STAB, SHOOT DETECTIVE

Detective William Stahle of the Racine avenue station was stabbed six times and shot once last night when he was ganged by five men in a tavern at 1400 Bosworth avenue. Police later rounded up five men, one wounded, as his alleged assailants.

Stahle, who is 48 years old, and lives at 3500 Fulton street, went into the saloon to question the men. They set upon him immediately, punching, kicking, and stabbing him. In the struggle for Stahle's gun, the weapon was discharged, and both he and one of the men were wounded in the leg. Stahle was taken to St. Mary's hospital. He is in a critical condition from one of the knife wounds.

Later Policemen Edward Kennedy and Joseph Ponicki arrested Leonard [Kelly] Wanderski, 28 years old, 1629 West 16th street; George Wanderski, 22, 1363 Bosworth avenue, his brother; James Karlinski, 29, 1818 West 17th street; Erward Cieslowski, 35, 1738 West 18th street, and Tom Souhrado, 31, 1720 West 17th street. Leonard Wanderski was wounded, and he admitted to Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin and Capt. Martin Mullen Jr., that he stabbed Stahle. The others denied fighting, saying they acted as peacemakers or onlookers.

Fire Destroys Big Canning Plant in Indiana Town

Tipton, Ind., Jan. 31 [Monday].—(AP)—Fire destroyed the Stokely Brothers Canning factory here early today. The damage was $250,000. The blaze, fanned by a strong wind, gained rapid headway after Tipton's largest fire truck was put out of commission in a crash with an automobile as it started to the burning factory. Seven persons were injured in the crash.

ROOSEVELT JR. CHOSEN BEST MAN FOR WEDDING OF HIS BROTHER JOHN

Boston, Mass., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Additional details of the wedding of John Roosevelt, youngest son of the President, to Anne Lindsay Clark, Boston debutante, were revealed today by Mrs. F. Haven Clark, the mother of Roosevelt's fiancée, who yesterday announced that the date had been set for June 18.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. will be his brother's best man and Miss Sally Clark will be her sister's maid of honor.

The Rev. Endicott Peabody, who has officiated at the weddings of the other sons of the President, as well as the parents of Miss Clark, will perform the ceremony, assisted by the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, Episcopal bishop of Massachusetts.

John will be graduated from Harvard university in June.

SLATE MAKERS FOR DEMOCRATS STALL FOR PEACE

For the second time in two days the slate-making subcommittee of the Democratic county central committee met yesterday only long enough to take a recess. Immediately there were reports that the big leaders were in a jam over the selection of a candidate for sherif.

The trouble is said to have started when County Chairman P. A. Nash told some members of the committee he favored Congressman Thomas J. O'Brien of his own congressional district for sherif. The suggestion met with opposition from backers of Ald. Henry Sonnenschein [22d] and County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer, both of whom have sought the place. There also were protests against a plan to drop County Commissioner Mary Palermo from the ticket.

Because the situation was considered dangerous to harmony, the meeting was recessed until 8 o'clock this evening.

STEEL ORDERS FOR THE MIDDLE WEST.

Increased expenditures for rearmament were asked for by the President in the message he sent to congress Friday. An 800 million dollar naval building program was recommended. This is in addition to the 184 million dollar item for new ships included in the regular naval appropriation bill which has already passed the house.

Not alone consideration of the national defense prompts the making of the proposal. It is known that a principal underlying purpose is the use of rearmament expenditures to turn the business cycle upward. Thus rearmament is to take the place in checking the new recession which public works had in the last one.

As this appears to be the only step of a tangible nature which has been taken by the administration to head off the disastrous relapse in business activity, its application should be carefully scrutinized. By the very nature of the business, the shipyards which will receive the orders are located along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Hence, unless something is done about it, the administration's business rescue efforts are only to be available to people at the extreme ends of the country. As it stands, there is nothing in it directly for the central states. Any stimulating effect which the interior of the country will receive from the war shipbuilding program will be seepage from the coasts unless provision is made in the bills authorizing the program.

Taking account of the unequal effects of rearmament expenditures, Representative Scott W. Lucas of Illinois has served notice that he will propose legislation requiring that steel for the construction of naval vessels be fabricated in the interior part of the country. Senator Van Nuys of Indiana has indicated that he will give the proposal his support in the senate. It is certainly no more than fair that if as a recovery measure orders are passed out to the Atlantic and Pacific coasts for the ships that Illinois and Indiana should get the orders for the steel that is required.

Illinois and Indiana had a combined population of approximately 11 millions in the last census. The state of New York alone had 12½ millions. Thus New York had about 14 per cent more inhabitants at the last official reckoning than the two central states. But with only 14 per cent more people New York gets a far larger allotment of funds when there are funds to be allotted for relief purposes. According to a report of the treasury department covering the period from April 8, 1935, to Sept. 10, 1937, the state of New York received 65 per cent more PWA money, 68 per cent more FERA money, and 85 per cent more WPA money than did the two states combined. New York got 324 million dollars more out of past relief fund distributions than the state would have been entitled to on the same per capita basis as Illinois and Indiana. It is to be hoped that in their efforts to see that their constituencies are not left out in the cold in the rearmament program Representative Lucas and Senator Van Nuys will be supported by other congressmen and senators from the central states which were badly shortchanged in past distributions of federal funds.

BRIDGES, ALIEN WRECKER.

Harry Bridges, an Australian, has been the spark plug of disorders in the American merchant marine and among the longshoremen on the Pacific coast for several years. He also has had a hand in the turmoil in Atlantic ports. He is an alien, said to be a member of the communist party, and was picked up by John Lewis as an organizer for the C. I. O.

Inspectors of the immigration and naturalization bureau on the Pacific coast recommended that he be deported because of his activities as an alien, because of the disorders and lawlessness they caused, but Mme. Perkins, secretary of labor, has protected him. The senate commerce committee, investigating the state of anarchy into which the American mercantile marine has been forced, has heard a great deal of testimony relating to Bridges, to the strikes, disorders, mutinies, and violence which have tied ships to their docks, prevented their sailing, broken down communications, and caused great injury in employment and to commerce.

Much of this testimony indicates that Bridges has had the support of the department of labor and of the National Labor Relations board. Paul Scharrenburg, legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor, said that when Bridges entered Atlantic seaboard territory he had the direct aid of Mrs. Elinor M. Herrick, New York regional director of the National Labor Relations board, in destroying contracts between the International Seamen's union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, and the Atlantic steamship companies. Mr. Scharrenburg said that Mrs. Herrick had received the Red outlaws with open arms and virtually became the business agent of Bridges' wrecking crews.

Other countries so carefully guard their territory that Bridges as an alien could not even obtain honest employment if he sought it in England or France, and in Germany, Italy, or Russia the police would have nabbed him as soon as he set foot on shore. A misguided American seaman was sent to jail in Germany merely because he had some communist literature in his possession and talked too much. Bridges, an alien disturber, has been allowed to become the most powerful force in American shipping. He is the man responsible more than any one else for conditions in the American mercantile marine.

If this alien were the agent of a foreign government seeking to wreck the American marine, prevent it from carrying freight or passengers and sweep it from the seas he couldn't work more directly to the purpose. And this country stands for it.

THE RELIEF REPORT.

A committee of leading men of affairs in Chicago conducted a six weeks' investigation of relief distribution and has now reported its findings to the governor. As this is the most valuable study which has been made of the problems which confront relief administrators, the taxpayers and public officials today, it is to be hoped that this report will not be filed away to gather dust. If the recommendations are put into effect there is reason to believe that the costs of relief will be reduced, many of the recipients will be encouraged to better their own conditions, and fraud will be minimized.

One recommendation may arouse opposition from those now employed in the relief administration. It is the proposal to place trained office executives instead of social workers in charge of office work. It is difficult for any one to surrender power and influence, but we have no doubt that there is enough intelligence and good will in the relief organization to recognize that the training of the social worker is not the best preparation for executive direction of office routines. The specialty of the social worker is the gathering and interpretation of the facts regarding the applicant for relief. The handling of records and accounts requires a wholly different type of training and experience and should be intrusted to those who have these qualifications. The committee proposes that the social workers be freed from duties for which they are not equipped to concentrate upon the matters for which their specialized training fits them. No reasonable objection can be raised to this proposal.

The report also recommends a more vigorous effort to find employment for those on relief who are able to work. It is suggested that the social workers continue to handle the problems of those who for one reason or another are unemployable, but that the 56 per cent who are employable be segregated into a special group with a view to finding jobs for them. This is plainly a step in the right direction. It is no kindness to an able-bodied man to keep him on relief. Every pressure that can be brought to bear upon him to regain his independence should be used. If the relief problem is ever to be reduced to manageable proportions it must be through the reëmployment of those who are able to work. Jobs must be found for some. All must be prodded relentlessly to find jobs for themselves. A special department within the relief organization for this purpose is needed and should be established.

These recommendations have been picked out to illustrate the common sense possessed by the men who constituted the committee of investigation. Unfortunates on relief as well as the taxpayers will benefit greatly from the adoption of the report as a guide to the administration of public charity in Chicago.

TWENTY-FOUR HOURS TO FLORIDA.

While Chicago's railways have slightly improved their schedules to Florida resorts to answer an insistent public demand, their best efforts still resemble those pre-war standards when anything better than 40 miles an hour was called a "flyer," a "lightning express," or some other such breath taking term. None of the railways advertising Florida trains has tried to do much better than the old time service of two nights and one day, or two days and one night.

The best overall speed to Florida is around 46 miles an hour, but most of the trains are somewhat slower, and Chicagoans have become accustomed to faster service. If they wish to go to the Pacific coast, streamlined trains offer schedules of 57 miles an hour. To Omaha, Denver, Minneapolis, and St. Paul new type trains offer 65 miles an hour. Through the more densely settled areas to Detroit, Peoria, and St. Louis, a mile a minute has become commonplace. Why must the Florida bound tourist spend an extra half day in transit?

The combination of railroads that will offer these western schedules to southeastern winter playgrounds can build new business without in any way detracting from the patronage of the present trains. Even if the more modest speed of 60 miles an hour were adopted, it should be possible to leave Chicago one evening and arrive at Palm Beach or Miami the following evening. If a morning departure is chosen, a train leaving at 9 o'clock could arrive at Miami at 10:30 a. m. the following day. The western roads have found that these fast, streamlined trains are like new ventures.

What forward looking railway management has the courage to give it a trial? A single train will prove that the demand for twenty-four hour service to Florida exists.

Editorial of the Day

R. I. P.

[New Haven Register.]

This is a great week for birthdays. Yesterday was Benjamin Franklin's. Today is Daniel Webster's. Tomorrow is Robert E. Lee's. Thursday is Richard Henry Lee's. Friday is John C. Fremont's. Patriot, statesman, soldier, conqueror of the frontiers—there is timely material in this week's anniversaries for any who still believe there was some good in the past.

Although it is the political fashion of the day to drape the official being in the mantle of yesterday's great, it is not strange that some of these are let alone, their shades undisturbed by attempts to appropriate their reputations. Webster, for instance, who told what he thought, as only the prime orator of his day could say it, about persons who "carry on mad hostility against all established institutions . . . would choke the fountain of industry and dry all streams . . . in a country where property is more evenly divided than anywhere else, they rend the air shouting agrarian doctrins"—his rôle can have few claimants.

And as for Franklin, where is the one to claim his mantle?

"They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety."

"A man may, if he knows not how to save as he gets, keep his nose to the grindstone."

"Experience keeps a dear school, but fools will learn in no other."

"He that goes a borrowing goes a sorrowing."

Poor Richard!

LESS PICTURESQUE VERSION.

Some four summers ago an old man about 90 years old volunteered the story of the real beginning of the Chicago fire to a stranger with whom he entered conversation. He had kept quiet about it at the time to protect the boys whose carelessness had been responsible, he said. There were two of them and they had been sent to the corner saloon to bring home some pails of beer for their families' evening meal. As they were returning with the full pails they stopped at Mrs. O'Leary's barn to play. Matches were lighted, and when something caught fire the boys grabbed their pails and ran down the street shouting "Fire!" The pails of beer with its thick foam looked like milk, and as they were coming from the cow barn it was assumed they had been milking and the cow had kicked over a lantern. The old gentleman told the tale to Sam S. Karpin, 5566 Gladys avenue, talked authoritatively about it, Mr. Karpin says, and referred to the boys by their first names.

CXII.

Forgive me, Lord, if I should jest too much,
There is enough of grief without my tears.
If fools alone seek peace in laughter's touch
Let me be one, and be more wise than seers.
We are too droll in these our human ways
For me to don the robes of gravity;
I should not sooner solve my tangled maze
Within the arrogance of dignity.
Which then of all thy creatures knows not pain?
Yet none save we thy children have been blessed
With mirth; let me my heritage regain
In laughter's joyous strength—I only jest
At my own self, and for a little while,
And ask no blessing but the right to smile.

IN THE MORNING MAIL.

The gal at the board looked up from her TRIBUNE and asked, "What's a cupola?" "A cupola," replied the steno, "is a little naked boy with a bow and arrow—supposed to represent love."

John Kurnat.

WHEN A PUBLIC TELEPHONE rang in Harper hall at the University of Chicago the other day a girl named Kay Stevenson happened to answer it, according to a story told by Lillian Schoen in the Daily Maroon.

"Is this Midway 10018?" a voice demanded.

"No, it isn't," answered Miss Stevenson.

ROMANCE ON THE "L" PLATFORM.

Who was the very attractive lady who walked down the 18th street elevated stairs of the Douglas Park line last Tuesday evening dressed in a black coat with a high Russian hat? Her expression—stern, sad, regal. But as she reached the door a gentleman came through it, removed his hat . . . and kissed her. Her expression was, O, so transformed. . . . Joy . . . happiness . . . her eyes shone like twin stars. Then arm in arm they left the station.

Lovers? Long-parted friends? O, surely they must be lovers! If she sees this, will she answer?

Eighteenth Streeter.

Since Eighteenth Streeter got such a kick out of the romantic episode perhaps we should pass up mentioning we are glad the gentleman took his hat off when he kissed her.

A SEARCH THAT CENTERS in Chicago is for a silver tankard that once belonged to John Bunyan. Dr. Frank Mott Harrison, doctor of philosophy at London university, who has traced the tankard to its purchase by a Chicagoan, says that upon its finding may rest the answer of the question he is trying to solve—the true date of the publishing of "Pilgrim's Progress." The tankard was given to Bunyan's wife, Elizabeth, by Nathaniel Ponder, publisher of Bunyan's work in 1671. It passed from her hands to the Rev. Andrew Gifford, a Baptist minister at Bristol, England; then to his heir, who pawned it. It was redeemed by one Isaac Maynard of Brandon street, Walworth, London, who bequeathed it to his wife. She willed it to a Mrs. Charlotte M. Bach, from whom it was bought by an unidentified man in Chicago. Dr. Harrison does not seek possession of the tankard, but assurance of its existence and if possible a photograph. . . . It interests us because the story of Christian and his bundle of sins and the Slough of Despond, along with a certain infantile book, "The Live Dolls," are our earliest book memories.

HOW CARBON MONOXIDE DAMAGES THE BLOOD.

WHENEVER carbon [fuel] is burned, oxygen joins with it and heat is the result. The by-products are two gases; one called carbon dioxide, which is poisonous in certain circumstances; the other, carbon monoxide, which is formed because the burning material has not absorbed the necessary quota of air. This is more toxic. It is essential, therefore, that flues [chimneys], plus adequate ventilation, shall be provided for every heating apparatus and gas engine. Some of us may have forgotten that wood, charcoal, oil, and coal—when ignited—will generate a certain amount of carbon monoxide which must not be allowed to mix with the air of living rooms.

Another risk has entered the picture in recent years. The exhaust of automobiles contain about 7 per cent of carbon monoxide. This means that garages and long, underground tunnels through which motor vehicles pass may become positive health hazards. The question may be asked, "Is it wise to roam congested regions where gasoline engines are pouring substantial quantities of this lethal material into the air?" Tests made on city streets in busy traffic areas disclose nearly 1 part of carbon monoxide in 10,000 of air. This is the limit of safety. Similar checks in garages show 2 parts in 10,000—a dangerous level.

Warnings have been sounded repeatedly against running the engine of the car in a closed space. In fact, if the coroners of the nation should call the roll of known victims, there would be a large number of names of those who have indulged in this hazardous and senseless practice.

According to R. T. Legge, an operating motor will discharge 2 cubic feet of carbon monoxide per minute, so that within twenty minutes the concentration in the atmosphere [in closed spaces] will be heavy enough to kill a fair sized animal.

Little harm comes to those who are working in conditions where the proportion does not exceed 1 part in 10,000 parts of air. Every industrial plant, therefore, where combustion is going on, should make periodic examinations to discover not only its presence but the volume. No one can smell it because it has no odor. Many of us are familiar with the plan followed in mines—where canary birds and mice are watched for the existence of noxious vapors. Birds are twenty times more susceptible than man and a canary will show distress quickly if there is carbon monoxide in the air.

Why is this substance perilous? Because it has an exceedingly strong affinity for hemoglobin [the red coloring matter of the blood]—300 times that of oxygen. This explains why asphyxiation results—the hemoglobin combines with this deadly compound even though there is plenty of air. Thus great damage is done to the brain and other organs because oxygen cannot reach the tissues. When 60 per cent of the red cells are saturated life is in great jeopardy—in fact, recovery is rare.

Symptoms appear in two stages. At first there is a sense of tightness across the forehead, some dizziness, and pain both in the front and the back of the head. The eyes will smart, and if the inhalation continues nausea and vomiting will occur, with an increase in the pulse and the rate of breathing. After a time muscle control is lost, the blood pressure falls, and unconsciousness is ushered in, usually with convulsions.

The regulation treatment includes placing the patient promptly in open, fresh air, beginning artificial respiration [with the Schäfer method preferably], and the giving of oxygen to which has been added 5 per cent of carbon dioxide. Tanks of this mixture are available in nearly every hospital.

Chemical antidotes so far have not been satisfactory, although a stimulant for the respiration may be used in the form of hypodermic administration of lobeline. Every one handling a case of carbon monoxide poisoning should recall the cardinal rules of management of any unconscious person—namely, keep the body warm with the patient lying down.

PASTEURIZED MILK.

L. L. writes: In the pasteurization of milk are all germs killed? A claims they are but B says some are not. Which is right?

REPLY.

B is right. High temperature pasteurization renders harmless the germs of typhoid, scarlet fever, and diphtheria, as well as bacteria which cause summer diarrhea in children. It also affords considerable protection against tuberculosis.

But nothing short of boiling will destroy spores [seeds] of certain organisms. Two methods are used—a temperature of 143 degrees F. for thirty minutes, or a higher temperature [158 degrees F.] for a shorter time.

Low temperature pasteurization reduces the number of bacteria contained in the milk and delays souring and similar changes.

SOFT CORNS.

D. R. B. writes: I have been unable to find anything that gives relief for soft corns. Have you any suggestions?

REPLY.

Use straight-last, round-toed shoes.

A simple dusting powder placed between the toes two or three times a day is helpful.

Make a stall in the stocking for the fifth toe, as a thumb in a mitten. Soft corns should be kept dry and clean. They should be washed frequently with alcohol, dried, and powdered. The mild application of nitrate of silver may be effective.

A skilled chiropodist can help you.

PERTHES' DISEASE.

R. W. writes: What is Perthes' disease? Is there a cure?

REPLY.

Perthes' disease is a chronic inflammation of the head of the femur, occurring in childhood. With good care symptoms disappear, but the head of the thigh bone remains flattened in most cases. Treatment consists in restriction of walking, protection from weight-bearing, and in severe cases fixation of the joint temporarily.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY HARRY LEVIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM. — Control of the Transjordan desert means control of the greater part of the Mosul-Haifa oil pipeline and some of the most strategic communications of the near east.

The maintenance of security and order in this region of wandering Bedouin tribes and vaguely defined boundaries therefore always has been a major consideration of the British authorities. Yet hitherto a force of no more than 700 men has been on duty there.

Now, because the defense of the pipeline, the Bagdad-Haifa highway, now in process of construction, and the projected Haifa-Bagdad railway loom large in the British scheme of things, the Transjordan desert force is to be trebled in strength.

The force, which is a section of the Transjordan Arab Legion, is one of the most unusual police forces in the world. Like the French Foreign Legion, it asks no questions of recruits, and like the Legion its ranks include fugitives from justice in half a dozen lands.

The commander of the desert force is Maj. J. B. Glubb, who, when he formed the unit seven years ago, arrived from Iraq with the reputation of being "the younger Lawrence." However, Lawrence enjoyed advantages denied to Glubb.

Lawrence was able to appear before the Arabs as a miraculous benefactor, showering gold and rifles—their major passions in life—and arranging raids on enemy camps and property—their primary sport. He traveled with a strong and richly dressed bodyguard of well known Arab fighting stock and was frequently in the company of the much respected Emir [later king] Feisal.

Maj. Glubb always has worked alone and with negligible funds. He had no gold or rifles to distribute, and far from encouraging raiding set about eradicating it. By his uncanny knowledge of the Arab mind, his tenacity and courage, he won the Arabs' confidence and affection and succeeding in welding his wild men into a loyal and disciplined force.

Known as Abu Huneik, "Father of the Chin," owing to a war scar on his chin, Glubb lives the life of a Bedouin policeman, eats their strange food, drinks their water, teeming with a hundred impurities; sleeps rolled in a blanket by campfires, and rides a camel or a donkey.

The desert force is divided into armed car and dalul [racing dromedary] sections, both well armed and trained to appear in inaccessible places with a suddenness disconcerting to wrongdoers. It has eight posts and a number of wireless transmitting sets. Administratively it is under the control of the Transjordan government.

The force's functions are to prevent intertribal raiding and raiding across the Iraq, Saudian, and Syrian frontiers, damage to the oil pipeline and the great desert highway, and to discourage active interest in disorders in the surrounding countries. That none of the Transjordan Bedouins responded to the intensive agitation of the Palestine extremist leaders last year to join the disturbance in the Holy Land is in a large measure due to the efforts of the desert force.

Maj. Glubb has additional functions: To keep abreast of the changing political sentiments of the Bedouin, to trace foreign agitation, such as that of Italian agents, and to dispense justice under the Bedouin control law of 1936. Not officially part of his functions, but close to the heart of this 44 years old police officer with the appearance of a gentle scholar, is the provision of education facilities for Bedouin children and the provision and equipment of "guest" tents at his desert posts.

DEBT SECURED BY NOTE.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In 1911 my mother and father purchased her father's home for $3,000—$1,500 cash and $1,500 on a note, interest payable each year until her father's death. Then the $1,500 on the note would be her share of his estate. After fifteen years he passed away and after eleven years she has opportunity to sell the place, but [1] the note was recorded and no one knows what happened to it. For the sale of the property she must have the note.

2. Can that note be collected should some one hold it, that is, after the death of my mother, who is still living?

3. Would it be all right to put an ad in the paper for holder of note to bring it forth and after thirty days of this notice if holder should fail to make an appearance [4] would that note become void? This property is located in Illinois. M. A.

1. It is unusual to record a note. We doubt if your statement is accurate, but if it is accurate, the note might still be in the recorder's office. We suggest that you look up the recorded number or document number on the tract index in the recorder's office and then call for that number at the delivery window.

2. The ordinary procedure where a note has been lost is for the creditor to furnish a surety bond to protect the debtor against the risk of having to pay again to a holder in due course of the original instrument.

3. There is no legal objection, but it does not seem likely that such an ad would produce results.

4. No. We advise you to have a personal interview with an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Mr. A died in Illinois leaving all of his real and personal property to his wife, cutting off entirely his only child, a daughter.

2. Said daughter made no attempt to claim any part of his estate and the will was settled without probate, the widow receiving everything. Later the daughter died, leaving all she had to her husband.

3. Can daughter's husband claim any part of the widow's estate by law, widow still being alive?

4. This question is based on the assumption that it was illegal for Mr. A to cut his daughter off entirely. L. D.

1. In general, this is within a parent's power.

2. She would be allowed one year from the commencement of probate proceedings in which to file a bill to contest the will on some such basis as undue influence or lack of mental capacity.

3. Not unless it is still within a year and the will can be set aside.

4. Your assumption is incorrect.

SENTRY'S RIGHTS.

Reedsburg, Wis., Jan. 28.—Concerning the incident in which a Japanese sentry struck an official of the United States embassy, I would like to say that it is taught, as I remember, in all armies as well as our own, that there is one time when a private is higher than the highest ranking general, secretary of war, or the ruler of the land, and that is when on sentry duty he can command any one of these to halt.

Should the President or ruler or other high dignitary fail to halt as commanded or show his right to pass, and should he then be shot, the soldier must be upheld for the morale of the army and the country. JOHN A. ZIMMERMAN.

THE MORE ABUNDANT LIFE.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—I am writing this letter in the hope that the employers of this city will think twice before saying No to a young man looking for a job. Yes and no are a couple of small words, but there are many times when a man's future depends on what word you say.

Take my case, for instance. I am 21 years of age and have been looking for a job for over a year, but with little success. Now at my age I should be working steady and saving a few dollars for the future. Every youth thinks of the day when he has enough put away so he could get married and have a home of his own and be a respectable citizen. We are so broke in our house that I can't even buy a pair of socks, let alone replace the shoes that have holes. I get so disgusted at times I could go out and rob a bank or something, and don't care what happens to me. But, thank goodness, my will power overcomes these goofy ideas. I still have a little hope that one of these days my luck will change, and I'll get a job.

So, Mr. Employer, please think twice before saying No to a youth looking for a job. You were young yourself once.

PIANO LESSONS.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Under the present school system children can get class lessons at 25 cents each and these instructions are supposed to be supervised by the board of education.

Children who attend these classes learn to play notes mechanically but are not taught how to read them properly or in general how to play musically.

Parents use this class system to find out if their children have a talent for music and are blinded by the low price, but seldom realize that the beginning is most important and that through this way of teaching nine times out of ten the children's interest in music is killed forever.

The instructor tries often to have the children take private lessons from her for a much higher price. Why not give up teaching piano in public schools altogether and save the talent of many students and at the same time save money for the taxpayer? A. S.

ARRESTED FOR SQUANDERING.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—I read last night in a newspaper printed in Sweden about four government officials being arrested Christmas day in Moscow for squandering public funds on unnecessary projects. I wondered which of our four higher-ups would be first in line if such justice were to be meted out here.

Although I am a stanch conservative and very shy of anything Red politically, I cannot help wondering if the Russians haven't got something there anyhow.

SUBTLE POINT.

Clinton, Ind., Jan. 26.—I have read the editorial of the 26th in which it is suggested that the driver's seat in automobiles be placed over the engine. I agree with this suggestion in general, but for a large number of drivers the seat should be placed directly under the engine and the engine dropped to the ground as soon as they take their seats. THE FUTURE OF CANADA.

Oak Park, Ill., Jan. 26.—There is something which is significant and highly sensible in the following opinion. It is the mature opinion of a Scot, who migrated to Canada, and lived there for twenty-two years. Returning home to Scotland to live, he writes, in the Scots Magazine:

If I were to make a guess, I would say that Canada is bound, in the very nature of things, to draw away from Great Britain and move closer to the United States. She lies alongside that great republic, is influenced by it at every turn, is steadily increasing her trade and commerce with it, and is becoming increasingly suspicious of European entanglements.

The Canadians want no more of our wars, for they have found that by living peaceably alongside the United States without a gun on the border, for well over a century, that nations can be strong and virile and proud and progressive without having to fight with other nations to prove it.

I don't know how long it will take, and I know many good Canadians who would hotly denounce the very suggestion of such a thing, but my feeling is that as Canada develops she will draw closer and closer to the American republic and further and further away from Great Britain. And I am sure one more war like the last one will speed up the process.

Uncle Sam will, of course, make no effort to get Canada to join the Union. However, it is bound to come eventually. Americans like the Canadians, and consider they have the same outlook as themselves on Europe and world problems in general. Their interests are, by the nature of things, common interests; and most Americans would welcome and consider a popular vote by the Canadians to join the Union as states, as good common sense, and a long step in further strengthening this continent against becoming involved in the bitter quarrels and barbarous nationalisms of a decaying Europe. ALEXANDER S. ANDERSON.

PERSECUTION IN GERMANY.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Today's papers carry the news of further outrages on the part of the German government against the Jewish people. If horses were being tortured in Germany a sympathetic world would protest, and the various anti-cruelty leagues throughout the world would band together to insist that animals be allowed to live without torture.

How a world full of human beings, such as you and I, can sit idly by and watch a people being tortured, is beyond me. If the people of the world would protest, surely some peace and security would be given those harassed people, whose only sin is that they are Jews. And the torture is spreading to other countries.

History tells us that Spain did the same kind of job and to this day Spain has not recovered. It isn't fair to God to allow any of his creatures to be tortured without a word of protest.

CITY TO SPEND $400,000 IN '38 WAR ON SYPHILIS

Plan to Find and Treat 45,000 Cases.

More than $400,000 will be spent this year in Chicago's war on venereal disease, it was announced yesterday by the board of health.

A recent survey established a minimum potential prevalence of 45,000 syphilis cases in Chicago, or one out of every seventy-five Chicagoans. The money will be used to find, diagnose, and treat those cases, only one-third of which have had previous care.

"I am convinced," said Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, "that it costs far less money to fight syphilis than to tolerate it. Its spread from one person to another constitutes a growing economic burden to the municipality and to the individual who, disabled by syphilis, must be cared for."

Spend More This Year.

The 1938 anti-syphilis campaign fund is expected to exceed 1937 by almost $100,000, with the city, nation, and state contributing to an outlay of $402,188, in a 6-4-1 ratio.

The city will spend $246,070, the federal government $117,998, and the state $38,120 in administration of the venereal disease program and operation of the city social hygiene clinic and the venereal disease division of the city laboratory.

The state's fund is estimated from 1937 expenditures and may run more in 1938. The federal figure includes funds appropriated by the Works Progress administration for syphilis control in Chicago and Chicago's share of the $8,000,000 allotted Surgeon General Thomas Parran from social security funds for the national antisyphilis campaign. The figure does not include, however, the WPA's $40,000 Chicago syphilis survey project which will continue this year as long as authorities consider it needed.

Distribution of Fund.

The following table shows the distributions of the $402,188 and its sources:

Source—	Salaries.	Operating expense.	Special projects	Total exp'dit'e.
City	$161,130	$49,940	$35,000	$246,070
WPA	68,648	.....	26,000	94,648
Social sec	20,550	2,800	.....	23,350
State	25,800	12,320	.....	38,120
Totals..	$276,128	$65,060	$61,000	$402,188

The WPA's special project is for rehabilitating the old South Division High school building at Wabash and 26th streets to house the city venereal disease clinic now in the central police station. The city's special fund is for equipping the building and for moving.

The salaries are distributed among the venereal disease clinic, $200,086; the city laboratory, $56,280, and administrative officials, $19,762.

The state and social security contributions to operating expenses are solely for medication. The principal items in the city's operating expenses are for maintenance of the new 26th street clinic, $27,440; supplies, $15,000; printing, $5,000, and furniture, $1,000.

The social security appropriation expires June 30, the WPA appropriation Sept. 30. If they are renewed the total expense of 1938 venereal disease control will probably be more than $450,000.

Rescues a Squirrel

Mrs. Grace Britton with squirrel she rescued from Garfield park during cold weather.

Five days ago Billy, a tiny gray squirrel, was as wild as any squirrel in Garfield park. But yesterday he was tamer than Su-Lin as he happily took a bath in the tub of Mrs. Grace Britton, 3347 Warren boulevard.

Mrs. Britton was on her way to work Tuesday morning when she saw Billy, a seemingly frozen little patch of fur, on a street corner. She turned back, and took the squirrel home.

"He was so cold that when we'd sit him up, he would fall over, and when we tried to pet him, he would snap at us," she said yesterday.

"But he seems to be making up to us now. He comes over to have his head scratched, eats bananas and peanuts out of our hands, lifts his front paws to be shaken and laughed outright when I put him in the tub today and gave him a bath."

535 START TODAY TO NEW PUBLIC BUSINESS SCHOOL

The new Jones Commercial school, 615 Plymouth court, will be opened today to 535 high school pupils who were chosen from nearly 3,000 applicants on the basis of their scholastic records.

The school is part of the plan to increase the emphasis on vocational education in the public schools. Most of the sixteen teachers on the staf are former heads of commercial departments in other high schools.

Miss Lillian Foley was appointed Saturday by Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson to head the adjustment bureau provided in the school to help the pupils find the work to which they are suited.

CRAFTSMEN TOLD TO QUIT LEAGUE RULED BY LEWIS

Roosevelt Backers Called Stooge for C. I. O.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Denouncing labor's Non-Partisan league as a ventriloquist's dummy for C. I. O. leaders, William Green tonight called upon the American Federation of Labor to withdraw completely from the organization formed in 1936 to mobilize labor support for President Roosevelt's reelection.

The A. F. of L. president made public a report on the league which he will submit to the federation's executive council this week, and which, he said, undoubtedly would be adopted. It recommended:

1. That all state federations of labor, city central bodies, and local organizations affiliated with the A. F. of L. be directed to withdraw from association with labor's Non-Partisan league.

Would Cut Funds Off.

2. That all organizations affiliated with the A. F. of L. and their individual members be urged to cease contributing to the financial support of labor's Non-Partisan league.

3. That coödinated efforts be undertaken by the officers of the A. F. of L. and all its affiliated bodies to examine carefully into the qualifications of all candidates for public office nominated or indorsed by labor's Non-Partisan league and any of its subsidiary groups to the end that effective opposition may be marshaled against any of such candidates found lacking the proper qualifications for public office.

George L. Berry originally was chairman of the league, and other officials of A. F. of L. unions participated in its campaign. Berry resigned early last year after he was appointed United States senator from Tennessee and was succeeded by John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization. Sidney Hillman, another C. I. O. leader, became vice chairman.

"Immediately the character of the league's activities changed," Green's report said.

Thousands Face New Need.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—John L. Lewis declared tonight that thousands of workers now face desperate need, and even starvation, despite the President's promise to let no willing worker starve.

In a letter urging all affiliates of his Committee for Industrial Organization to notify congress that immediate action is needed to provide 3 million work relief jobs for the unemployed, Lewis added: "The administration has taken upon itself this obligation, and the workers of America expect it to fulfill its promise."

GLASS FURNITURE IS INNOVATION IN SHOW AT MART

Glass furniture, ranging from fire screens to dining tables, are among the innovations in the china, pottery, glass and gift show which opens today at the Merchandise Mart.

The new furniture, made of structural glass, is bent and curved into any shape by a special process. A fire screen, with a design sandblasted into the clear glass, is in the shape of an inverted U, resting vertically in a simple metal base. Tables are of clear or colored glass plates, sometimes resting in a light maple base, sometimes understrung with parallel metal bars.

To harmonize with the 18th century furniture now in vogue, many gift and glass items have been reproduced as authentic copies of antique pieces. Pewter lamps, ruffles and velvet bows adorn many lamps; others are resplendent with crystal. Over 600 exhibitors have displays in the two weeks' show.

Only $7.95 but of Style and Quality worthy of a place amid the Finest Furnishings

THOUGH only $7.95 you'll agree that the style and quality of these three chairs justifies your serious consideration. Their frames are hardwood, unusually appealing because of their large, generous proportions and their graceful lines. Another consideration, these chairs with No-Sag Spring Seats are covered in particularly choice, first quality Tapestries, Friezes, Brocatelles and Damasks that beautify and make them look doubly rich; and still another consideration is that these chairs are set off by a Mahogany finish that looks well in any setting, and are further enhanced by brass nail trimming. . . . We believe you would not expect such a low price, but we assure you that when you come over and see them your own candid opinion will confirm all, and more, than we have said about these three chairs—any one of which would be a grand BUY.

This is the BIG IDEA

This isn't just another picture in a cigarette advertisement. It is a picture of you.

It shows your Smoke Zone.

It shows you where the smoke goes when you smoke. It also shows you where your cold is when you have a cold. Isn't it only common-sense to avoid irritating this Smoke Zone, the sensitive lining of your nose and throat?

Smoke soothing smoke—Spud Smoke—scientifically mentholated for the good and comfort of your nose and throat.

You scarcely taste SPUD menthol in the exceptionally fine tobaccos of this delightful cigarette—but you get its soothing beneficial effect in the smoke itself! Believe us, there is something in it!

SAFETY CAMPAIGN REDUCES TRIBUNE PLANT ACCIDENTS

Number Drops Sharply in Last Few Years.

With a greater number of hours worked than either 1936 or 1935, accidents both as to number and frequency per hours of work dropped sharply in THE TRIBUNE plant in 1937.

In 1935 there were 5,380,048 man hours worked. In 1936 this total was 5,608,648 and in 1937 it rose to 5,766,340. In 1935 there were 336 accidents; in 1936, 292, and in 1937, 252. The frequency in 1935 was 6.2 accidents for every 100,000 hours worked. In 1936 the frequency was 5.2, and in 1937 it was 4.4.

Result of Safety Drive.

Much of the credit for the showing was given to the campaigns to make TRIBUNE employés safety conscious and cause them to put forth effort to decrease hazards.

Besides the reduction in number of accidents and their frequency, the severity, according to preliminary figures, has been so decreased as to make possible a reduction of 39 per cent in workmen's compensation insurance costs in the two years.

Pressroom Leads in Number.

In number of accidents, the pressroom led both in 1935 and 1937, followed closely by the circulation department. From a standpoint of the number of accidents per 100,000 hours of work, however, there were more accidents among the stevedores and dock workers in 1935. In 1937 the receiving department led the list with the stereotyping department a close second. Two departments in 1937 had no accidents at all—general and job printing.

COL. JAMES ORD DIES IN CRASH IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Lieut. Col. James B. Ord was injured fatally today when a Philippine army training plane crashed into a tree at Baguio.

Col. Ord was one of the best known members of the United States military mission which has been guiding the progress of the young Philippine army.

"Col. Ord's death is one of those shocking tragedies that the country so frequently experiences in its search for security," said Gen. Douglas MacArthur. "His loss to the Philippine army is irreparable." President Manuel Quezon also paid tribute to Col. Ord.

Army officers who investigated the crash said they believed it was caused by misjudgment of speed and altitude. The Filipino pilot escaped with minor injuries.

Surviving relatives include the widow, Mrs. Emily Howell Ord, now visiting at Fort Monroe, Va., and a son. Col. Ord's home address was San Diego, Cal.

LIES ALL NIGHT AFTER FALL.

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Theodore Dubinsky, 39 years old, slipped on the icy pavement while walking home about midnight Saturday night and lay unconscious on the walk until 6:30 this morning, when he was found by a passing motorist. His condition is critical from exposure.

AUTO AND STREET CAR IN COLLISION; ONE MAN MAY DIE

Two Others Also Hurt in Crash.

Two men were seriously injured and a woman was hurt late last night when an automobile and a street car collided head-on in 47th street near Hoyne avenue. They were William Kosmowski, 35 years old, 4948 South Wolcott avenue; George Kilborn, 22 years old, 5015 South Ashland avenue, and Kilborn's wife, Victoria, also 22 years old. Kosmowski, the driver, and Kilborn were taken to Southtown hospital, where it was said Kilborn might die. Mrs. Kilborn was only slightly hurt. Several riders in the street car were injured.

Hit-Run Driver Confesses.

Searching for the hit and run driver they blamed for the death of Mrs. Anna Ross, 55 years old of 2848 Fulton street, police arrested John McClellan, 34 years old of 2855 Fulton street, a neighbor. He confessed last night, they said, that it was his car which killed Mrs. Ross in front of her home Saturday night. McClellan is an ex-convict.

Stanley Figura, 57 years old, 1339 Thomas street, died yesterday in St. Mary's hospital of injuries incurred Saturday night, when he was struck by a Checker taxicab at Milwaukee avenue and Noble street. Nicholas Ermilili, 1845 West Superior street, was the driver of the cab.

Pedestrian Is Killed.

Samuel Beky, 50 year sold, 8717 West 39th street, Hollywood, was killed early today at Ashland avenue and 51st street when he was run down by an automobile. The driver, Martin Hozain, 40 years old, 2025 South Laflin street, a tavern owner, took him to the Southtown hospital, but he was dead when he reached there.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 100 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 80 were killed in Chicago, where 1,367 were injured in the same period.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Lambs for Easter

January 30, 1938.

LAMBS for the Easter market may be grown this year at the Wheaton farm. Ordinarily the lambs on this place are not sold until late in the fall, but the men have decided that the most practical means of disposing of a bunch of midwinter lambs born on the farm may be to fatten them in time for Easter.

The new crop has been increased to eighteen, and all are strong and thrifty. Not a lamb has been lost. A few more lambs may be born before warm weather, but the bulk of the crop is not expected until May. Thirteen ewes already have lambed.

There usually is only a limited demand for Easter lambs, but those sold at that time often bring premium prices. Since the early lambs at the Wheaton farm likely would be too heavy to bring top price next fall, they are expected to be worth nearly as much at Easter as they would be if kept through the summer and fattened for the fall market.

Change in Diet.

A creep or pen soon will be built for the lambs so that they may be separated from their mothers and fed. They will continue to nurse and will be given bran, oats, and cottonseed meal in addition to alfalfa hay. They already are nibbling at alfalfa in the feed racks. Some of the bigger ones try to crowd into the feed troughs each time the ewes are given a feeding of grain.

The flockmaster is finding that the ewes and lambs are easier to care for, even in extremely cold weather, than during the spring when cold rains make it necessary to keep the flock under shelter much of the time. A door at the south end of the barn is now left open and the sheep go in and out as they please. They spend most of their time outside in the fresh air except when the weather is damp enough to wet their coats. Then they are put inside.

Feed of Mother Ewes.

The mother ewes are fed a grain mixture of half shelled corn and half oats. They are given one-half pound each of this mixture every morning, and a little cottonseed meal. They also are given some chopped corn fodder each morning and all the alfalfa hay they will eat night and morning. They have access at all times to racks filled with grass hay and all the salt and water they want. The salt is fed loose, because sheep will not eat enough brick salt to supply their needs.

The ewes that are to lamb this spring are being fed only chopped corn fodder and grass hay. They are encouraged to take plenty of exercise by having their daily ration of hay scattered over a large pasture field. This is done morning and night so that the ewes are required to take long walks to get their feed. The corn fodder, after being run through a silage cutter, is fed once a day in racks in the sheep barn. The ewes stay outside most of the time, many of them sleeping in the open at night except during rainy or stormy weather.

The remaining 55 lambs from the 1937 crop now are fat and ready for market. They likely will be shipped some time this week.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

BUCHSBAUM—In loving memory of Samuel Buchsbaum, who departed this life Jan. 31, 1926.
Twelve years ago your spirit flew
To higher realms, more work to do;
While we on earth in our small way
Are carrying on the plans you made.
We hope from heaven you see us, dear,
For we love to feel that you are near.
JENNIE BUCHSBAUM and CHILDREN.

CONLON—Edward Conlon. In fond memory of our comrade and buddy.
FORTY-SEVENTH LAST MAN'S CLUB.

DRELL — Benjamin B. Drell. Gone to his eternal home, Jan. 31, 1931.
There is a link death cannot sever
Love and remembrance last forever.
LOVING WIFE AND SONS.

KREISINGER—Marie J. Kreisinger. In loving memory of our dear wife and mother who departed one year ago today.
A wonderful person is a Mother;
Other folks can love you.
But only your Mother understands.
She works for you,
Looks after you,
Loves you, forgives you
Anything you may do.
Understands you,
And then the only thing
Sad she ever does to you
Is to die and leave you.
KNOTT—Irwin [Bosco] Knott, in loving memory of our dear brother, who passed away three years ago, Jan. 31, 1935.
There is a sad but sweet remembrance.
There is a memory fond and true,
There is a token of love, dear brother,
And a heartache still for you.
LOVING SISTERS.

KNOTT—Irwin V. Knott. In memory of our loving husband and father, who died Jan. 31, 1935. May his soul rest in peace.
LOVINGLY, WIFE AND DAUGHTER.

A Busy Social Whirl in Offing for February

BY JUDITH CASS.

THEORETICALLY February is a dull month socially; actually it gives promise of being anything but that. A glance through the calendar for the next four weeks reveals all sorts of intresting affairs in prospect, and the stay-at-homes need not be quiet or bored unless they choose to mope because they are not vacationing.

This, the last night of January, offers three entertainments, all of which promise to be delightful. It is the opening [not really, for it opened last night, but Chicago society never has "gone" for Sunday night openings] of Noel Coward's "Tonight at 8:30" at the Harris; in the foyer of Orchestra hall an invited audience will attend the debut of Hans Lange's Chamber Music ensemble, and in the Auditorium hundreds will hear Edith Mason sing for the benefit of the Little Company of Mary hospital. Many are regretting that the two concerts are on the same evening and that a theater production to which inveterate first nighters have looked forward for months is coming at the same time, for they would like to be in all three places tonight.

Reception to Welcome Pianist and Conductor.

This afternoon Mrs. Henry T. Roberts is giving a reception in her apartment at 1325 Astor street that not only welcomes Miss Poldi Mildner, Viennese pianist, and Erno Rapee, conductor, but that also is a housewarming for the Roberts' moderne new home. Miss Mildner and Mr. Rapee are to appear tomorrow night in the Auditorium theater with the Woman's Symphony orchestra in its final concert of this season.

Receiving with Mrs. Roberts from 4 until 7 o'clock will be Mrs. Royden J. Keith, president of the Woman's Symphony board; Mrs. A. F. Callahan, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Edmund J. Doering, Mrs. Philip T. Starck, and Mrs. Henry B. Vanzwoll. Miss Julianna Holmes will be in charge of the tea tables. Pouring will be Mrs. Lewis J. Pollock, Mrs. Convers Goddard, Mrs. Otho F. Ball, Mrs. Leo Nicolson, Mrs. Edward A. Litsinger, Mrs. Stallwood MacChesney, Mrs. George Cragg, and Mrs. Edward A. Leight.

All the boxes have been sold for the concert the Little Company of Mary hospital is sponsoring tonight. On Miss Mason's program are the compositions of three Chicagoans, Mrs. Archibald Freer's "You," Leeds Mitchells' "Twilight," and Mrs. Clifford Caldwell's "A Poem." Among the boxholders are Cardinal Mundelein, Bishop Bernard Sheil, Mayor Kelly, the D. F. Kellys, the James E. Bremners, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, the Freers, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. Sewell Avery, and the Jackson W. Smarts.

Russian Trio to Appear in Recital Tomorrow.

Tomorrow morning the Russian trio will give the fifth of six recitals under auspices of the Lake Shore Chamber Music society. The program, starting at 11 o'clock, will be given as usual in the Fortnightly club. This series of recitals is one of the musical treats of each winter, think the women who regularly hear the programs.

Miss Cynthia Cleveland, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cleveland will give a song recital in Alice Terrell's studio in the Fine Arts building tomorrow afternoon. Miss Cleveland, a soprano, will sing in French, Italian, and [illegible]. The recital will be given for [illegible] students, Miss Cleveland's parents, and a few friends.

The winter meeting of the Chicago Junior league will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the Tower room of the Drake hotel.

Cocktail Party Today for Atherton Richardses.

The Orville Taylors are giving a small cocktail party today in their Lake Shore drive apartment for the Atherton Richardses.

Mrs. Ford Carter will give the second in a series of lectures before the Evanston Junior league Wednesday morning. She will talk on "Architectural Design Flower Arrangements" and will illustrate her lecture with flowers.

Busy Young Matron and Her Children

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Jackson W. Smart of Highland Park and three of the reasons why she is one of the busiest young matrons on the north shore. "Deedee," 5 years old, Jackson, 7, and Allen, who is 3, take up much of her time but she also devotes much attention to her pet charity, the Little Company of Mary hospital at 95th street and California avenue. Tonight in the Auditorium theater Edith Mason is giving a concert for the benefit of the hospital.

Russian Piano Duo Acclaimed as Tops in a Brilliant Recital

BY CECIL SMITH.

In the past two weeks inveterate concertgoers have been able to reap a substantial harvest of two piano music. The cream of the whole crop was provided in the Auditorium theater yesterday afternoon by Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin, Russian duo-pianists, in their first visit to Chicago.

Their program, catholic enough to show many sides of their art, opened with Brahms' "Variations on a Theme by Haydn," continued with Mozart's D major two piano sonata [number 448 in the Koechel catalog], Rachmaninoff's early "Fantasy Tableaux," three of the Debussy "Epigraphes Antiques" and three studies by Mr. Babin, and came to a glittering close with Mr. Babin's arrangement of the Polovtsian dance from Borodin's "Prince Igor."

Babin and Vronsky [Mr. and Mrs. Babin] are trained in the same school of pianism, and seem to agree spontaneously in matters of tone quality, phrasing and accentuation. They play with much of the same marvelous ease and clarity as does Vladimir Horowitz, holding to the view that even when things are secretly difficult the audience should not be let in on that secret.

Further, they have the one gift without which musical performer may as well retire from the stage—the gift of making different pieces of music sound different without distorting their intrinsic meaning. The Mozart sonata was kept small in scale, with exquisite phrasing and lilting rhythmic movement.

Without any loss of artistic merit, the concert of the Chicago Business Men's orchestra in Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon was a singularly homelike occasion. As the members of the orchestra filed onto the stage friendly shouts and rounds of applause greeted them, and every evidence was given of an affectionate bond between audience, players and the conductor, George Dasch.

The program included the Bach-Abert "Prelude, Chorale and Fugue," the César Franck symphony, Johann Strauss' "Tales from the Vienna Woods," and the Schumann piano concerto, with Agnes Conover playing the solo part. The nearly professional competance of the orchestra would be a surprise to one who had no knowledge of the many weeks of arduous and loyal preparation preceding each public concert.

Miss Conover gave an intelligent and capable performance of the concerto.

The Housewife

Does your roommate like to read in bed till all hours, while you want to sleep? Instead of using the old college trick of the raised umbrella, try presenting him or her with a spot-ray bed lamp. It's new, it's smart, and it's not expensive.

You simply clamp this lamp to the top rail of the bed. Then cock the light at any angle you wish. It will throw the light directly on your book, leaving the rest of the room in darkness. This lamp also is ideal in a sickroom.

The sides of the electric bulb are completely concealed. The light issues only from the end.

Mr. Aronin will speak at the morning session, beginning at 10 o'clock. Rabbi Mann will speak after luncheon. Mrs. Harry L. Canmann is president of the conference.

Noel Coward's Cycle Gets Off to Merry Start

"TONIGHT AT 8:30."

First series of Noel Coward's cycle of one-act plays; given in the Harris theater Jan. 30, 1938, with Estelle Winwood, Bramwell Fletcher, Jessie Royce Landis and Helen Chandler as stars, under the management of Robert Henderson and Miss Winwood. Titles: "Family Album," "Fumed Oak," "Hands Across the Sea."

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Noel Coward's omnibus assortment of one-act plays, collectively called "Tonight at 8:30," started off merrily on a two weeks' engagement in the Harris theater last night. The first program, containing one-third of the repertory, supplied ample evidence that here is a wide variety of dramatic entertainment, acted as cleverly as written. The four stars of this company — Estelle Winwood, Bramwell Fletcher, Jessie Royce Landis and Helen Chandler — are gifted and versatile players with engaging personalities; and there appears to be no reason for Chicago to moan about this not being the original cast.

This bill contains a comedy of Victorian manners which often runs into lyric passages in the Gilbert and Sullivan manner ["Family Album"]; a somewhat sardonic study of cockney character and domestic life ["Fumed Oak"]; and a vivacious sketch of high society life in London in the vein of light satire ["Hands Across the Sea"]. This is a well balanced arrangement of contrasting themes, giving the leading players a wide variety of characters. Taken as a whole, its values in stage amusement are striking.

Mr. Fletcher proves himself an actor of surprising versatility. In "Family Album" he leads somewhat ghoulish revels in a family assembly after a funeral, appearing as an ornate man of the world in the London of 1860. In "Fumed Oak" he is a downtrodden cockney husband who rises in triumphant rebellion against his wife, mother-in-law and daughter and scores the personal hit of the evening. In "Hands Across the Sea" he is a casual naval officer off duty, gracefully riding the waves of his wife's social brainstorms.

Miss Winwood appears as a grim old maid in the first play; a shrill, nagging middle class wife in the second, and a fluttering, hair brained hostess of Mayfair in the third. Miss Landis handles with her usual distinction two rôles in which her attractive personality is recognizable; and in "Fumed Oak" appears as a meddling old mother-in-law like a specialist in London low life types. Miss Chandler, making her stage debut here, is pretty and skilful as a Victorian belle, a 12 year old girl with a bad cold and adenoids, and as a modern young woman of the London café society type.

This first series of "Tonight at 8:30" is cause for eager anticipation of the two others that will follow. The second opens on Tuesday night; the third on Thursday night.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Film musical.

ACTING: The cast teems with capable players, well known bands that play too much—I found Kay Thompson and her ensemble very tiring—and singers who can sing.

DIRECTION: Too long winded.

STORY: A rather "different" sort of yarn. A genial racketeer, Gordoni, amusingly portrayed by Leo Carrillo takes over a musical recording company that has failed, through its inability to get good talent.

He and his strong armed band herd in name performers to furnish swing music for the records. . . . Arise Gordoni's mother to raise cain because he has no opera headliners. . . . To woo the services of a famous and temperamental prima donna, Charlizzini, Gordoni despatches Crooner Jerry Hart, greatly beloved of the ladies. . . . This gums up his romance with Receptionist Ann Rogers and results in a comedy of errors that spins out—in a long, long thread—to a happy ending.

MUSIC: Plenty of swing stuff, some classical numbers and ballads and torch songs, several of which are pretty good.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" will probably set all right with fans who aren't fed up on these big, silly musical shows. I know everybody will like Phil Regan, Ann Dvorak, Leo Carrillo, and James Gleason a lot.

See you tomorrow.

GUNHAMMERED GOLD

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1938: By Frederick Dilley Glidden.]

SYNOPSIS.

Poco St. Vrain arrives in the western town of Christian City, escaping a pursuing troop of cavalry. There Two-Way Hornbeck approaches him with a scheme. Abe McCandless, who framed Poco and made an outlaw of him, owns a gold mine on a mountain peak. Two insurance agents sent to meet at the mine and bring down the gold are murdered by two different bands of outlaws. Two-Way persuades Poco to pose as one of the agents, Jake Finger, whose papers he has, and get the gold. At the mountain camp Poco finds Espey Cardowan, killer gunman, posing as the other agent. They dare not give each other away to Shayne, the mine manager, and his lovely daughter, Kate. On their way down the mountain with the gold Cardowan crowds Poco off the cliff and leaves him for dead. Then Cardowan joins forces with Two-Way.

INSTALMENT XIII.

BETRAYED.

Cardowan got a chnce to talk alone with Stony that afternoon. Stony was Cardowan's man anyway, body and soul, and Cardowan had an easy time getting his consent to betrayal compared with the argument Two-Way had with Pride. But Two-Way was a better talker, and by use of a little judicious blackmail, Pride was willing to betray all Two-Way's bunch.

They clung to the timber all day, traveling south high in the San Jons, where the gullies and canyons were shallow. In midafternoon, however, Two-Way and Cardowan, by mutual and open agreement, decided to head down for the foothills and split up the next day, since the danger seemed to be past.

They camped that night in the timber of the foothills by a stream. Cardowan ordered the gold pack removed from the mule so that he could be fed and watered. Then, he directed, the pack was to be placed again on the mule. To his men, he explained in a low voice, "I don't trust that crew. If we sleep with the gold beside us, what's to stop them from pretending they're asleep, then cutting down on us while we are? If the gold is kept together on the pack mule and put behind us and guarded by Stony, here, they'll have to wake us before they can get to it. If they sleep with their gold beside them, we can pretend we are sleeping and get it."

They agreed. Two-Way privately made the same proposition to his men. Dressed in the ragged, soiled clothes of the dead man, Two-Way still had his old suavity and persuasiveness, and his men agreed to raid the other bunch in their sleep. His proposition was identical to Cardowan's, so that when both outfits kept their pack mule loaded, it was a stalemate. They cursed each other under their breaths, but rolled in and were soon asleep.

Cardowan put a guard over the camp as an added precaution, but Two-Way did not. Close to midnight, when the whole camp was sleeping except for Pride, Stony and the guard, Cardowan suddenly sat up. Coker, the guard, squatting by the fire, saw him and came to his side. Cardowan rose, putting on his boots. As soon as they had backed away from the sleeping men, Cardowan said, "Did you hear anything funny?"

Coke. said no.

"Let's take a pasear out by those horses."

Cardowan led off into the darkness. Their horses were thrown together in a rope corral back in a cleared spot in the timber. Half-way to them, Cardowan said, "I still hear it."

Coker came close and listened.

"Stand over here," Cardowan said.

Coker stepped over. Cardowan raised the sixgun in his hand, poised it a moment over his head, then brought it down on Coker's head. Coker went limp and melted to the ground.

He paused long enough to wipe the gun barrel on Coker's shirt, then he made his way to the corral.

Stony loomed out of the night.

"Got the pack on the horse?"

"Sure. Your horse and mine are saddled."

Stony disappeared and led them all out.

"Where's Coker?"

Cardowan said disgustedly, "Hell, he was sleeping by the fire."

They waited without talking, and then splintering the silence of the night, came the stuttering fire of a gun. Three shots.

Stony said, "Goddlemighty, what's that?"

Cardowan, in the second of thunder had drawn his gun and now he said, "It's this, Stony."

His gun was three inches from Stony's chest and he let it off twice. Stony clawed out at him, but the second shot drove him back and down. Cardowan held his gun, ripped loose the rope corral, mounted, held the lead rope of the pack horse, then emptied his gun into the horses in the corral. There was a wild milling and snorting and screaming of stampeding animals, and Cardowan moved away from them.

Traveling slowly east for three minutes or so, long after the last sounds of the uproar in camp had faded, he picked his way through the trees. Presently, bearing to his left, he approached the bank of a wash. He traveled this for another minute, whistling a low, clear note every few seconds.

When he got an answer, he spurred on ahead.

Two-Way was waiting, his pack animal bulking large in the dark.

From behind a tree came Two-Way's voice. "Throw both guns away, Espey."

Cardowan said, "Where are you?"

"I said, throw them away. It was part of the bargain."

Two-Way heard the crash of a gun thrown in brush.

"Now yours," Cardowan said.

Two-Way threw away his gun, and Cardowan heard the crash. The procedure was repeated again and only then did Two-Way walk out of the darkness to the side of his horse.

"Now we've got to ride."

The going was slow, in spite of the fact that the weary pack mule had been exchanged by Stony and Pride for the strongest horses, for the packs weighed two hundred and fifty pounds each.

Two-Way spoke only once during the ride, and then he said, "You better shed those holsters and belts. Remember, we're prospectors without guns."

Cardowan complied.

They finally topped a low ridge and saw lying below them in the moonlight, a small cluster of buildings.

"Two miles more," Cardowan said.

Two-Way said, "Quiet."

They both listened. Riding on a gentle wind at their backs they could hear the far tattoo of horses at a gallop.

"Come on," Cardowan said, and rowelled his horse. It soon became apparent that they would have to drive the two pack horses ahead.

Drawing out on the plain now, they could look behind and see a cluster of spots that were the men pursuing them.

When the sound of the first shot rode down to them on the wind they leaned over in their saddles and spurred up beside the two pack horses. Two-Way lashed out viciously with his rope in a frantic endeavor to put the speed of fear in the laden horses, but they were running their best.

After an eternity in which the shots behind increased in volume and number they saw a squat, flat rectangle on the moonlit prairie ahead.

"We'll make it," Two-Way exulted.

And in another minute they were approaching the gates of Fort Benjamin.

The two pack horses, blown and almost foundered, thundered into the high arch of the gateway and pulled up in a moil of dust before the closed gates. From a grill in the thick gate a sentry's voice challenged them.

"Who is it," he ripped out.

Two-Way said rapidly, "Open up, for God's sake, friend. We're a couple of prospectors being chased by Poco St. Vrain and his gang!"

CATHARTICS A BAD HABIT

If you have common constipation, due to lack of bulk in the diet, the great objection to pills and purgatives is that they only perpetuate the trouble.

Why not encourage elimination with a natural laxative food—with Kellogg's All-Bran. It absorbs moisture and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. At the same time it improves intestinal tone because Kellogg's All-Bran contains the intestinal tonic vitamin B_1.

Eat All-Bran as a cereal or baked in muffins. And drink plenty of water. Made by Kellogg at Battle Creek.

Finds Hoosier Salon Awards Open to Dispute

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The fourteenth annual Hoosier salon, which opened Saturday night with a formal reception in the Marshall Field galleries, will be open to the public beginning today and continuing through Feb. 12. It is a pleasant exhibit, with somewhat the same type of pictures to which previous Hoosier salons have accustomed us. The one startlingly brilliant canvas in the show is the "Scottish Piper," by Charles Sneed Williams, a magnificent piece of painting and an intriguing study of a personality. The piper fairly comes alive as you look at him.

There are many delightful small pictures on the walls, more, perhaps, than in other years. No one can fail to be delighted with "Orchard Road," by Lucie Hartrath; "Hay Stack—Straw Stack," by H. Doswell Brinton; "Market Day at Honfleur," by Homer G. Davisson; "Fishing Boats at Bridge" and "Flowers in Window," by Edgar Forkner; "Snow Time," by Louis W. Bonsib, and "Early Winter," by C. Curry Bohm.

The two features of the exhibition, a gallery devoted to water colors and four recent portraits by Wayman Adams, are of interest. In the water color room the vivacious portrait of a little boy, "My Son," by Walt Louderback, is most intriguing. It is dashing and Frenchy and altogether eye-catching. The portraits by Mr. Adams are serious pieces of painting very well done.

The division of sculpture is unusually intriguing. John David Brcin carried off the first prize with his lovely "Study," the seated figure of a woman. The award is the Mrs. Charles V. Hickox prize of $300.

Opinion is bound to differ on the awarding of the other important prizes; they seem to have been given recklessly. "Nogales, Mexico," by Charles Reiffel, received the John C. Shaffer $500 prize as the outstanding work in oil; "Down on the Farm," by William B. Peed, carried off the Thomas Meek Butler Memorial prize for the outstanding landscape in oil; the Edward Rector Memorial prize went to "The Gentle Breeze," by V. J. Cariani; the Frank F. Hummel Memorial prize was won by W. Karl Steele with "Autumn Lustre"; the Lawrence A. Downs prize went to "Home of the Red Fox," by Edward K. Williams.

The Orphan Annie prize, given by little Annie's creator, Harold Gray, was awarded to "Cynthia," by Hill Sharp, as being the outstanding portrait of a child in oil. The other prize winning works are "The Black Hat," by Helen L. Briggs; "Dressed Up Canadian," by Sister Marie Rosaire; "Malagas," by Stanley S. Sessler; "Sunshine and Shadow," by Clay Kelly [a study of Mexico]; "R. R. No. 3," by Karl C. Brandner; "Aztec God, Cactus, Virgin, and Birds," by Samuel F. Hershey; "My Son," by Walt Louderback; three etchings by George Jo Mess; "The Red Maple," by V. J. Cariani, and "Where Dunes and Waters Meet," by Frank V. Dudley.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

For every angel or sponge cake which comes from the oven as solid as cornmeal mush there is a cook with tears of dismay and disappointment in her eyes. A spoiled egg cake means the loss of eight to a dozen eggs, no small consideration when the food budget must be carefully calculated, to say nothing of the waste of time and effort in making and baking the cake.

As a rule, chances of failure are increased in relation to the increase in the number of eggs in a recipe. A one, two, or three egg cake usually is a safe bet, although failure here does not mean as much mental anguish as does failure with an expensive cake recipe. The recipes I have chosen for today's column are relatively inexpensive, represent simple combinations, yet are fine enough for any party occasion.

Orange Cream Cakes.
[Two Dozen.]

CAKE:
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter or other fat
1 cup sugar
1 unbeaten egg
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

FILLING:
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1 cup orange juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
2 tablespoons butter

Mixing the cake: Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and beat together well. Add egg and beat thoroughly. Add flour alternately with milk, in three portions each, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla. Pour into buttered cup cake pans and bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes or until done. Remove a cone shaped piece from the top of each cake and fill the hollow with orange filling. Cut off all but the top of the removed portions and replace over the filling. Sprinkle confectioners' sugar over the cakes.

Mixing the filling: Combine sugar, flour, and salt in the top of a double boiler. Add egg yolk and fruit juice and mix well. Place over boiling water and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add orange rind and butter. Cool and fill cakes.

Peanut Brittle Sponge Cake.
[Two Eight Inch Layers.]
1¼ cups sifted flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten until thick
1 tablespoon lemon juice
5 tablespoons boiling water
1 cup whipping cream
½ cup ground or crushed peanut brittle

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together three times. Add sugar gradually to eggs which have been beaten until thick and light. Beat together well. Add lemon juice. Fold in the flour alternately with water, mixing quickly until smooth. Bake in two ungreased eight inch layer pans at 375 degrees for 20 minutes or until done. Remove from oven and invert pans until cakes cool. Whip the cream and fold in the crushed peanut brittle. Spread filling between layers and on top of cake. Sprinkle top with more of the crushed candy.

Nut Cake.
[9 by 4 by 3 Inch Loaf.]
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
3 unbeaten eggs
1 cup chopped nuts
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together three times. Cream butter well and add sugar gradually. Mix until light and add eggs, singly, beating well after each. Add nuts and mix well. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat until smooth after each addition. Finally add vanilla. Bake in greased pan 9 by 4 by 3 inches, at 350 degrees for one hour.

Open Founder's Week at Moody Institute Today

Thirty-second annual sessions of Founder's week of Moody Bible institute will open today and continue until next Sunday. Dr. Will H. Houghton, president of the institute, announced that the sessions will emphasize personal evangelism, with leaders from various parts of the country and missionaries from many lands taking part.

ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. Brundred Mitchell of Greenwich, Conn., announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Mary Lida Mitchell, to Ralph Eversz McKinnie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Renwick McKinnie of Evanston. Miss Mitchell, daughter of James Lynn Mitchell of New York, formerly of St. Paul, Minn., attended the Nightingale-Bamford school in New York, the Shipley school in Bryn Mawr, Pa., and the Katharine Gibbs school in New York. Mr. McKinnie attended Lake Forest academy and Northwestern university.

House Frock Is Easy to Wear

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOME FROCK.

A boon to housewives is the type of home frock one can don and take off in a jiffy. The pattern today fashions one of that type, and it's easy to make. A few seams to sew and edges to hem, and there you are. Slip the garment over your head and adjust the sash at the waist. You will be comfortably and smartly attired for all your hours at home.

The neckline may be left square and plain, or a Peter Pan collar may be employed. The shoulders are the kimono style, requiring no fitting. If you wish, there is a pocket to be placed on the skirt. You may use any type of cotton fabric for this practical frock. It might be a good idea to use a bright print or a plaid.

Style No. 3415 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material.

National Day Is Planned by Hibernians' Auxiliary

About 200 officers of Cook county units of the ladies' auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians met in the Cameo room of the Morrison hotel yesterday afternoon to complete arrangements for National day of the organization next Sunday, when the feast of St. Bridget, patron saint, will be observed. Mrs. Mary F. McWhorter, president of the county auxiliary, said about 1,000 persons will attend the celebration, to be held in the Cameo room.

Semester Exams End Wednesday at U. of I.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—First semester examinations which started at the University of Illinois last week will end Wednesday. Then the 12,500 students will have several days' respite before registering for the second semester. Registration for graduate students will be held next Friday and Saturday and for undergraduate students the following Monday and Tuesday, with classes starting Wednesday, Feb. 2.

ance Française are gay, informal parties that do much to enliven the quiet winter months, and a musical comedy has been planned for the members Thursday afternoon. Mme. Emilie-Jeanne Sorson has written a comedy, "Paris." Mrs. Allen C. Howes will play the music on a piano, and a number of members will be in the cast.

The Alliance Juniors will be in charge of the program for the day. Miss Ellen Adair Orr, president of "Les Jeunes," has asked Mrs. Charles S. Dewey and Mrs. Carter H. Harrison to be hostesses. Assisting will be Miss Cynthia Cleveland, Miss Narcissa Thorne, and Miss Babbs Burton.

Art Institute to Show Works of Remisoff.

An exhibition of the works of a Chicago artist, Nicholas Remisoff, will be opened along with the Tiepolo exhibition and a display of Swedish art Friday at the Art institute. Members of the institute and sponsors will attend a preview of the show Friday night.

The Arts club has cards out for a tea Friday from 4 to 6 o'clock to open three exhibitions: Paintings by Jean Helion, water colors by Issachar Ryback, and portraits by Pavel Tchelitchew.

The Cordon club has cards out for a tea from 4 to 6 o'clock Friday to open an exhibition of paintings by Jean Crawford Adams. Cara Verson, pianist, and Ella Payne Heimbrodt, soprano, will give a musical program.

British Author to Address Foreign Relations Luncheon.

Lecturegoers will make a point of hearing F. Cyril James speak on "Europe: the Impact of Economics on Current Politics" next Saturday at a Chicago Council on Foreign Relations luncheon in the Palmer house. Mr. James, the author of "England Today," "The Road to Revival," and other books, is one of the younger English economists and is chairman of the graduate faculty of the Wharton school of finance and politics at the University of Pennsylvania.

A large group of music lovers are sponsoring the piano recital that Serge Prokofieff will give for the Renaissance society of the University of Chicago the evening of Feb. 15 in Mandel hall. Mrs. Inez Stark, president of the society, is general chairman of the committee, which includes Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bricken, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Stock, Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Lillie, the Walter Kirks, the Charles B. Goodspeeds, Dr. and Mrs. Dallas Phemister, Dr. and Mrs. William F. Jane Emery Engaged to Bradley Eben.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes O'Brien entertained at cocktails in their apartment, 40 West Schiller street, Saturday afternoon to celebrate the engagement of Miss Jane Emery to Bradley Eben. Miss Emery's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark Emery of 3432 Bosworth avenue, are announcing the engagement today. Mr. Eben is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Siegfried Eben of New York. His fiancée is a graduate of Sarah Lawrence college. Mr. Eben attended Georgetown university and is practicing law in Chicago.

Lester Gaba and his beautiful but dumb "girl friend," Cynthia, who arrived yesterday for a three day visit in Chicago, will be the guests at a spring fashion preview at noon today in the Mercantile Mart; this afternoon they will attend a cocktail par' at the Drake, and tonight they will be in the fashionable audience that will assemble in the Harris for "Tonight at 8:30."

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

The possible variations of play of a given hand are at once a source of pleasure and mental pain. It is exciting and, therefore, for most of us pleasureful, to track down the one winning line of play through a maze of alternative lines. But it cannot be denied that such search produces headaches as well as triumphs. The real victim of bridge complexity is the bridge writer. In order to illustrate the points he seeks to impress he must select, or invent, example hands. This is where the "catch" comes in. He may wish to illustrate the correct defense on a certain type of hand. Woe be to him, however, if in his concentration upon that point alone, he overlooks a possible counter-attack that declarer can wage on his "best defense"!

All this is a sort of preamble by which I express my sympathy with the author of a recent article in the British Bridge World magazine, who presented the following hand to prove a point:

NORTH
♠ J 7 3
♥ A 8
♦ J 8 7 6 4
♣ Q 7 2

WEST
♠ Q 9 4
♥ J 9 6 5 2
♦ Q 5 3
♣ K 10

EAST
♠ 10 6 5 2
♥ K 7 3
♦ K 9
♣ J 9 8 4

SOUTH
♠ A K 8
♥ Q 10 4
♦ A 10 2
♣ A 6 5 3

South was the declarer at a three no trump contract. I now quote: "West opened his fourth best heart, East won with the king and played a heart back. Declarer now played a small diamond from dummy and the critical moment had come. See what happens if East plays low. South finesses the ten, West wins and clears the hearts. But on the next round of diamonds the king falls and South goes game with two spades, two hearts, four diamonds, and one club. But if East rises to the occasion and plays his diamond king, the hand is saved. South wins and plays the ten of diamonds, but West naturally holds off. He wins the third round, however, and clears his hearts. Now South cannot establish any tricks in clubs without allowing West to obtain the lead, and the game is saved with three hearts, a diamond, and a club.

"It is true that, even if East fails to put up his diamond king at the second trick, West can save the situation by refusing to put his queen on the ten, but such a play hardly is possible, because West cannot read the position and may be giving up a vital trick."

Let it be understood that I agree thoroughly with the idea that East should put up his diamond king instead of following with a low diamond. But just to show you what pitfalls await us poor authors, I regret to say that in this particular hand that play would not have defeated the contract unless declarer overlooked his opportunity. A master in the South seat still would bring home the bacon. He would take the diamond king and lead the ten. Obviously, West would have to hold off with his queen, but this would make matters merely difficult, not impossible. Declarer then would cash the heart queen, discarding a club from dummy, and then would throw West on lead with a third diamond. West could take his long hearts but, finally reduced to spades Q-9-4 and clubs K-10 [dummy at this stage would have the J-7 of spades, the jack of diamonds, and the Q-7 of clubs; declarer, A-K-8 of spades and A-6 of clubs], would be unable to exit without presenting declarer with the rest of the tricks. Dummy could not be kept out of the lead to cash the good diamond for the ninth trick.

I feel just a little ashamed about this sort of thing, but every time I fall from grace, hundreds of eager vultures pounce upon me through the mails, so it seems only fair that I, too, should have a little pleasure.

Wise Parent Tries to Solve His Child's Troubles in School

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The new school term is upon us. Even if promotion occurs only once a year in the school that your child attends, there still is a feeling of break and a fresh beginning with the midyear and the first day of February.

If school has gone badly for your boy or girl during the past half year, try to prevent that state of affairs continuing during the second. If teacher and principal haven't solved the difficulty, turn into a Mrs. Sherlock Holmes yourself and try to clear up the mystery.

The trouble may be that the teacher and your child simply can't work as a team. In one of our progressive public school systems the principal, after a fair trial and keen observing, will see that two certain personalities, child and teacher, can never achieve harmony together. So he changes the child to another room in the same grade.

The school trouble, on the other hand, may originate at home. Home management may be wrong, or things may be all awry in the home atmosphere among the adults. In the latter case a boy or girl can be actually unhappy, and this state is reflected in his school work or his school behavior.

These are some of the causes of your child's classroom troubles. Do a little sleuthing and ferret out the reason why your child isn't doing well in school.

First of Two Major Church Meetings to Open in City Tonight

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Two major religious assemblies, the 101st convention of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, and the United Methodist Council of North America, will occupy the attention of churchmen throughout the city this week. Tonight, the Episcopal conclave will informally open at a dinner in the Sherman hotel with formal sessions beginning tomorrow at the Church of the Epiphany, Ashland avenue and Adams street.

The Methodist council, first of its kind to be held, will convene as Episcopal sesisons come to a close on Thursday. This meeting, which Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf has announced will attract more than 4,000 delegates from the United States and Canada, will meet in the Stevens hotel.

Bishop Frank W. Greighton, coadjutor of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan and formerly of Mexico, Bishop Irving P. Johnson of Colorado, and Bishop Goodrich Fenner of Kansas, will be chief speakers at tonight's dinner.

Kansas also will send leadership to the Methodist council in the person of Alfred M. Landon, former Republican presidential candidate, who is widely known as a Methodist lay leader. Other notables called by Methodism include Francis B. Sayre, assistant secretary of state; T. Z. Koo, former advisor to Chinese railroads, and Branch Rickey, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals' baseball club. Mr. Rickey also is a member of the Methodist board of education which will hold sessions in connection with the council.

Planning Your Wardrobe Will Avoid Errors

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

As this is written there is enough spring in the air to set us women to thinking about something new for the wardrobe. The shop windows are not contributing to peace of mind and contentment with what we have, either.

Last year, the year before and, in all probability, the one before that we made a couple of mistakes, at least. There's another dress season right ahead on which we may save money and the conscience irritations which a faulty purchase or two inspires. There's time ahead for planning, and the best and most successfully dressed women are not only the planners but they are the early bird planners.

We are indebted to a woman of great discrimination about clothes. She has an important voice in the dress policies of one of the outstanding smart shops, and she knows women, what makes them well dressed on little money and badly dressed on a great deal. She is the Countess Clarita de Forceville, who, in a clever book, "Marriages Are Made at Home" [Knopf], incorporates a few sound dress principles for guidance.

She explains that the contrast between the American woman and the French woman is marked because the French woman prefers to be chic rather than pretty. This, in our authority's judgment, saves a lot of color dribbles that contribute the "grab bag look." The difference between the French woman's idea of shopping and the American's is worthy of comment, too. It's a serious business to the former.

Too often, to the American woman, it is a kind of Roman holiday. She sees a dress. She likes it. She buys it. She sees a hat, likes and buys it. A bag, ditto. "All with no apparent regard for whether the three will go together or with other clothes already in the wardrobe. You can't buy a group of enthusiasms and expect to look like Kay Francis," is one of the countess' pithy comments.

Wanting to resemble some one else, however, is not an approved urge. No French woman ever wants to look like any one but herself. Among the qualifications for a well dressed woman are lack of conspicuousness at first glance; dressing to suit one's age, the occasion and season; dressing to suit one's individual self and making no mistake in shoes, bag, or jewelry.

Young Violinist Wins Praise in Chicago Debut

BY EDWARD BARRY.

When Eudice Shapiro played a Studebaker theater recital yesterday afternoon Chicago concertgoers had their first chance to assess the young American violinist who last April carried off the $1,000 prize offered by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

In the Beethoven G major Romance, the Reger unaccompanied sonata in A, and the Brahms violin and piano sonata in D minor, Miss Shapiro proved rather conclusively not only that she possesses innate musicianship, but also that she has had the benefit of expert training. Here is a violinist who takes a healthy joy in the variety of effect of which her instrument is capable. Tone was warm, pungent, even acid, by turns. In passages exploiting the balance of phrase against phrase care was taken to vary the color and thereby the expressive content.

Her periods are persuasively long, taking on considerable eloquence from the player's determination to make her music as meaningful as possible. Miss Shapiro plays quietly and seems to hate personal mannerisms as bitterly as she does musical.

Vladimir Sokoloff played finely calculated accompaniments. In the Brahms, where his part is as important as that of the violinist, he achieved some somberly beautiful tonal effects.

After writing about Miss Shapiro it is hard to say much about Clara Siegel, the Chicago pianist who yesterday played the Borowski D minor concerto at the Great Northern theater concert of the Illinois Symphony orchestra. The musical characteristics of the two artists are very similar. They are alike, too, in their lack of personal mannerisms. Miss Siegel's performance was sincere, direct, and full of unstudied eloquence. Her supple technique turned out to be quite equal to the considerable demands of the final movement.

The schedule for the seven day engagement of the Salzburg Opera guild in the Auditorium theater, beginning Sunday, Feb. 13, is as follows: Mozart's "Cosi fan Tutte" — Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday evenings, and Saturday matinée; Rossini's "The Matrimonial Market" and Ibert's "Angelique" — Monday; the two last named operas and Milhaud's "The Poor Sailor" — Wednesday and Friday; Monteverdi's "The Coronation of Poppea"—Saturday evening.

At afternoon and evening performances in the Studebaker next Sunday Trudi Schoop and her comic ballet will produce a new work, "All for Love."

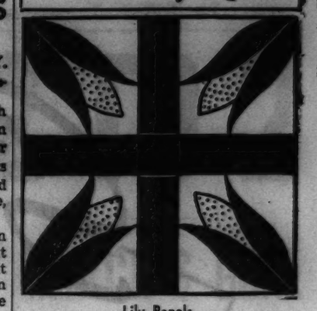
Both Piecing and Applique Found in "Lily" Quilt



Lily Panels.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Lily Panels" combines piecing and appliqué in one of the most unusual blocks ever presented for your quilt album. The bands forming the panels are of solid colors, while the flower may be either printed or plain. The flowers and leaves are applied to the square and these, in turn, are joined to the bands. The finished block measures 12 inches square and the entire coverlet is composed of these blocks forming an all-over design. A two toned border of white and violet materials finishes the quilt, which measures 90 by 104 inches.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The more we see of the ailing hair situation the more we feel there are few disorders of the common type that brushing won't alleviate.

You can't brush your hair too much. Not even if it's oily. The "exercise" brushing gives the scalp will do a lot to normalize the flow of oil. The oil glands are functioning peculiarly when the hair is too oily or too dry. Brushing helps them hit the happy balance that makes for normal hair.

Brushing also cleanses the hair. If we brushed out every smidge of dust very patiently each night we'd have prettier and healthier hair. The success of your permanent can often be measured by the amount of brushing you do or don't indulge in. Well brushed hair has a much better chance of emerging glorious from the coils of the waving machine than dry hair that never gets the benefit of regular scalp stimulation.

And if hair is brushed correctly it won't shorten the length of a wave. A good brush, wielded with a vibratory motion, is an instrument of wave beautification.

The brush you use should be a business-like one, one easily cleaned, that will stand up under repeated washings. Clean it with a dry cloth during and after each use. See that the bristles are long, elastic, and properly cut. The cheap brush usually isn't a bargain. And the fancy-backed brush is usually more decorative than practical.

Don't buy your brush for its good looks but rather for its good bristles. Pay as much as you can afford for it. You can get a lot of good brushes for your money at widely varying prices these days. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Tibbett Injured in Fall on Ice; Cancels Concert

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A head injury received in a fall on ice near his Wilton, Conn., home caused Lawrence Tibbett, the baritone, to cancel a concert engagement tonight in the Metropolitan Opera house. Mrs. Tibbett advised the company he struck a sharp stone and suffered a wound that required seven stitches. Tibbett is expected to appear for his next scheduled concert Thursday.

SCHMELING WINS 12 ROUND DECISION OVER FOORD

25,000 CHEER SOUTH AFRICAN FOR GAME FIGHT

Staves Off German's Late Assault.

HAMBURG, Germany, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight seeking to regain the world championship, battered rugged Ben Foord of South Africa in the last six rounds this afternoon to take a twelve round decision before a crowd of 25,000.

Schmeling, who weighed 192.9 pounds, to Foord's 207, did everything but floor his opponent. He took nine of the twelve rounds and from the sixth on drove a steady barrage of jolting rights and lefts to Foord's body and battered face.

Foord's courage in the closing rounds, when he withstood Schmeling's bid for a knockout, drew roars of applause from the crowd, which was somewhat disappointed when its idol failed to score a knockout in his first appearance in a German ring in two years.

Schmeling Starts Slowly.

Schmeling, as in his first warmup bout for Joe Louis against Harry Thomas in New York, started slowly. He seemed intent on perfecting his timing and footwork in the opening rounds and smiled frequently at Foord's efforts to land wild lefts and rights.

The German, who meets Louis for the heavyweight championship in the United States this summer, did not begin rolling until the sixth. Then he gave the crowd, which included high Nazi officials and a large British delegation, a superb demonstration.

His famed right hand put Foord on the defensive. From the sixth round to the tenth he punched Foord around the ring and had the South African in trouble at the end of the tenth.

Black Shirts Form Escort.

Schmeling, a master of pace, bid for a knockout in the eleventh, but could not connect. He bounced Foord off the ropes with a series of rights, but Foord gamely fought back. He eased down in the final round as Foord, in a desperate effort to stay the limit, staved off the German's attack.

The crowd, which had expected a bout like Schmeling's eight round knockout of Thomas, nevertheless cheered him lustily when he left the ring escorted by a group of Adolph Hitler's Black Shirt guards. Both Foord and Schmeling gave the Nazi salute upon entering the ring.

Schmeling was unmarked save for a small cut under his left eye, but Foord was bleeding from cuts over both eyes and on the lips. There were no knockdowns.

Max Hurts Hand.

Foord, former British empire heavyweight champion, lost the title to Tommy Farr of Wales, and was knocked out by Max Baer. Schmeling may fight one more bout in preparation for his meeting with Louis.

Schmeling said he regarded the victory as "the best preparation in the world" for Louis because Foord's style is similar to Louis'. Both stress a left jab.

Although his face showed only a few signs of the twelve rounds of battling, Schmeling cracked the knuckle on his right thumb on Foord's head in the fourth round. Max Machon, Schmeling's trainer, said the injury was not serious.

JACOBS IS PLEASED

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Joe Jacobs, American manager of Max Schmeling, said today he was glad Max's bout with Ben Foord had lasted 12 rounds, and announced Schmeling's next opponent would be Steve Dudas, New Jersey heavyweight.

BEARS PRESENT PASSING CIRCUS; TRIUMPH, 41-20

Whip Southern All-Stars at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The Chicago Bears and a team of All-Stars gave 7,000 fans a professional exhibition of wide open football today in the Municipal stadium. The Bears, scoring with runs and passes, won, 41 to 20. The All-Stars relied entirely on passes and laterals.

That the Bears were superior was evidenced early, but some stellar individual play by Gaynell Tinsley, Rock Reed, and Pat Coffee of the Chicago Cardinals, and Don Hutson of the Green Bay Packers gave the spectators many thrills. The Stars ended every advance with a lateral pass, sometimes flipping the ball three times before being brought down.

Doehring Shows Off.

The Bears reverted to circus football in the closing minutes when they had the game safely won. John [Bull] Doehring, their southpaw passer, flipped a pass behind his back twenty-five yards for a touchdown.

The Stars scored in the second period on a sixty-five yard pass from Coffee to Tinsley, made another from Coffee to Tinsley to Al Lind for sixty yards and a touchdown in the third period, and wound up with a pass, Coffee to Hutson, for sixty-five yards and another six points in the fourth.

Buivid Runs 85 Yards.

The Bears started off in workmanlike fashion with a couple of touchdowns in the first period on plunges by Sam Francis after Molesworth had thrown two long passes to Dick Plasman, former Vanderbilt end. A sixty-five yard pass into the end zone from Ray Buivid to Reino Nori, former De Kalb star, and Buivid's eighty-five yard run from scrimmage produced two more scores. Lineup:

ALL-STARS [20].		BEARS [41].
Tinsley	L.E.	Plasman
Carroll	L.T.	Stydahar
Hall	L.G.	Fortmann
Lunday	C.	Bausch

Hutson	R.E.	Karr
Reed	Q.B.	Molesworth
Couch	L.H.	Feathers
Coffee	R.H.	Manders
Morton	F.B.	Francis

Touchdowns—Tinsley, Lind, Hutson, Francis [2], Buivid, Nori, McDonald, Nolting.
Points after touchdown—Manders [2], Plasman, Coffee [2].

REDSKINS WIN

Houston, Tex., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The Washington Redskins piled up two touchdowns in the first period and coasted to a 17 to 10 victory today over a group of college and pro football players.

Four thousand five hundred saw Cliff Battles race seventy-four yards with a punt return for a touchdown and Sammy Baugh flip a thirty yard pass to Riley Smith, advancing the ball to the 1 yard line. Don Irwin smashed over.

The two scores came after Tillie Manton, former Texas Christian back, had kicked a thirty-eight yard field goal to put the All-Stars in the lead.

In the third period Dutch Kline, another former Texas Christian back, intercepted a pass and raced sixty-two yards for an All-Star touchdown.

In the last quarter Riley Smith kicked a field goal from forty-five yards out for Washington. Lineups:

REDSKINS [17].		ALL-STARS [10].
Malone	L.E.	Walls
Edwards	L.T.	Baker
Olsson	L.G.	Evans
G. Smith	C.	Johnson
Young	R.G.	Routt

McChesney	R.E.	Ramsey
Pinckert	Q.B.	Manton
Baugh	L.H.	Neill
Britt	R.H.	Masters
Battles	F.B.	Brazell

Touchdowns—Battles, Irwin, Kline.
Field goals—Riley Smith, Manton.
Points after touchdowns—Battles, Riley Smith, Manton.

Riggs Wins from Grant in Four Set Exhibition

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Bobby Riggs of Chicago, second ranking player of the United States, defeated Bryan Grant, Davis Cup star ranked fourth nationally, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1, in an exhibition match today.

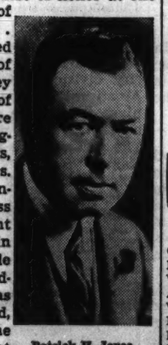
In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

PATRICK H. JOYCE, president of the Great Western railroad, had complete charge of Gene Tunney's training arrangements preparatory to his second match with Jack Dempsey at Soldiers' field in 1927. . . .

Mr. Joyce also had more to do with bringing the memorable bout to Chicago than almost any other individual. . . . The authority for these statements is Gene Tunney, who Saturday night was guest of honor at one of the most remarkable gatherings of sportsmen in Chicago's history. . . . There were only thirty-four invited to the party in the house on the roof of the Sherman hotel, where Tunney rested the afternoon of the Battle of the Century, but among them were civic, state, and national political figures, railroad presidents, bankers, business, and professional leaders. . . . They were there to cheer Tunney on his way to a new business career. . . . The former heavyweight champion, bronzed from a vacation in Florida, acknowledged with gratitude the part Mr. Joyce and Mayor Edward J. Kelly, who at the time was president of the south park board, played in assuring the honesty of the fight. . . . "There was a report that I would take a dive in the seventh round," Tunney smilingly remarked, "and when I went down Ed Kelly was the most alarmed man in the crowd. But when he saw me get up, back away, and eventually carry on to victory he was the happiest fellow around the ring. He knew then I was honest and we have been intimate friends ever since."

Gene Tunney.



Patrick H. Joyce.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President, who was the principal speaker, said: "Let's get back to the courage of Gene Tunney in the ring. BULLETIN.

The Belgian-German team of Freddie Ottevaere and Gottfried Huertgen took the lead early this morning in the six day bicycle race at the Coliseum. The Kilian-Vopel and Van Kempen-Yates teams were tied for second.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Cecil Yates, the transplanted Texas Irishman, who dwells in our town, and Piet Van Kempen, the Hollander who has not been seen in these parts for four years, took a one lap lead in the six day bicycle race at the Coliseum last night. It was the first time in nine years that the athletes of the wheeled steeds had ridden in the venerable Wabash avenue structure.

Thirteen teams were sent away at 9 o'clock by Judith Allen, screen star and night club entertainer, who fired the starting gun. They will continue their whirl to nowhere until the conclusion of the race at midnight, Saturday.

Take Early Lead.

Yates and Van Kempen, who set up the first jam of the night four minutes after the race had begun, found themselves a lap ahead of three teams, including the redoubtable German pair of Gustave Kilian and Heinz Vopel, who have won nine consecutive races; Jules Audy and Ernst Buhler, the Canadian-German duo, and the Belgian-German team of Freddie Ottevaere and Gottfried Huertgen. The last named had amassed a grand total of no sprint points at midnight, but the Kilian and Audy pairs had tied the Yates team in sprint points with 31.

The race was being conducted under circumstances no different from its recent predecessors, judging by the abandon with which the young men drove their wheels around. Certainly none of the parties who are charged with playing truant from the National Cycling association appeared worried about the threat that their participation in the current grind renders them liable to a year's suspension from the N. C. A., not to mention a $1,000 fine.

Among the alleged unfaithful are such able riders as Kilian and Vopel, Yates, Ottevaere, Audy, Mickey Rodak, Freddie Spencer, Jimmy Walthour, Al Crossley, and Henri Le Page.

Jams, Spills Aplenty.

The 6,000 customers who witnessed last night's opening, did not lack for excitement, for in addition to a number of spirited jams, the first three hours of the race presented a half dozen spills. Yates was the victim of the last one. Kilian began to do one of his typical rhumbas, swinging his fore wheel from one side to the other. Audy, who was riding second, followed suit, and Yates attempted to do likewise, but blew a tire and found himself picking splinters out of his limbs.

Kilian and Vopel didn't let on that they were serious until the second series of sprints, when they took four out of five, with Gus accounting for three of them.

Results of the 12:30 a. m. sprints:
1. Buhler, Vrooman, Walthour, Camastro.
2. Crossley, Audy, Fielding, Le Page.
3. Van Kempen, McNauwens, Buhler, Vopel.
4. Kilian, Crossley, Yates, Huertgen.
5. Vopel, Van Kempen, Walthour, Wasper.

Braddock Through with Ring; He'll Become a Business Man

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Jim Braddock, former world heavyweight champion and recent winner over Tommy Farr in the first fight of a comeback campaign, announced his retirement from the ring today.

The 32 year old boxer, who has been fighting since 1926, explained that "in fairness to my wife and children, I believe it is time to retire."

There has been talk of Braddock's retirement ever since he lost the heavyweight crown to Joe Louis last summer by an eight round knockout in Chicago.

Jimmy Braddock.

Still Thinks He's Good.

"I won my last fight," the announcement said. "And I believe I can beat most of the contenders for the heavyweight title."

He said he plans another business venture, details of which he will announce later.

Braddock won the heavyweight crown from Max Baer in 1935, climaxing a comeback campaign which started from a job as a dock worker in Jersey City.

"In reaching my decision to withdraw from the game," Jimmy said, "I have the support and advice of Joe Gould, my manager and my friend.

"In fairness to every one, but especially to my wife and children, I believe I should retire.

Picked a Good Time to Quit.

"My retirement from the ring," Jim added, "does not mean the end of my professional association with Joe Gould. I will be as helpful to him as I can in the management of other boxers, and he and I will engage in other business enterprise.

"This is my farewell to boxing, a sport which owes me nothing, and to which I owe everything, the many friends I have made and the means with which I have been able to provide for my family."

Braddock makes his exit from the ring while fans still are talking about his gameness, particularly the manner in which he slugged with Louis last summer and the rally which beat Farr on Jan. 21 in ten rounds in Madison Square Garden.

Trailing through the first eight rounds, Jim came back in the ninth and tenth to win the decision.

Starting in as a light heavyweight in 1926, Braddock engaged in 84 fights, won 26 by knockouts and 25 by decisions. He drew in 5, was outpointed 19 times, and fought 7 no-decision contests. He was stopped by Lou Scozza in six rounds in 1932 and was knocked out by Louis after putting Joe on the floor with a right hand in the second round.

Chicago Pilot Wins Havana Yacht Regatta

HAVANA, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Harry G. Nye Jr. of Chicago, skipper of the southern Lake Michigan fleet entry, Gale, won the Bacardi cup series in the international star class regatta today.

Sailing with Leeds Mitchell Jr. as his crewman, Nye won both the second and third races today after trailing Adrian Iselin's western Long Island Sound entry, Ace, yesterday.

Ace Finishes Third Twice.

Ace could finish no better than third in today's two races as the Havana yachtsman, Charles de Cardenas, brought Kurush home second each time. The final standing had Gale first with 41 points and Kurush and Ace trailing with 38 each. Kurush was awarded second place.

Out of the 14 starters, only ten yachts finished the morning race and nine this afternoon.

Jibaro Scores 30 Points.

Behind the three leaders this afternoon came Cesar Fuentes' Jibaro of Havana, with 30 points; Melody, sailed by Paul H. Smart, central Long Island sound, 10; Chuckle, Harold Halstead, Moriches Bay, N. Y., 9; Lia III., Roberto Karman, Havana, 14; Ariel II., Guillermo Alamilla, Havana, 16; and Carmita, Luis R. Miranda, Havana, 18.

Seven of the yachts, Gale, Melody, Chuckle, Delilah, Kurush, and Aurrera V., sailed by Miguel de Sena of Havana, are eligible to start tomorrow in the first race for the Cuba trophy.

Mancuso, Moore Turn Backs on Giant Contracts

Houston, Tex., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Two valuable members of the New York Giants—Gus Mancuso and Joe Moore—said today the front office sadly underestimated their baseball abilities when they were mailed 1938 contracts.

Mancuso, catcher, said flatly he would hold out before he would accept the cut in salary offered, and Outfielder Moore said he was offered the same figure as in 1937, which was extremely distasteful.

"I want a raise," he said.

Mancuso said Manager Bill Terry, in a recent magazine article, reported he never had reduced salaries of deserving players.

"But he is trying to cut my salary," he protested. "And I'm not going to take it. I've given five years of good service to the Giants and if they don't meet my 1937 figure I'll become a holdout."

BIETELA WINS WHITEHALL, WIS., SKI TOURNAMENT

Whitehall, Wis., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Walter Bietela, University of Wisconsin student from Ishpeming, Mich., made leaps of 141 and 147 feet to win the class A event in the sixth annual Whitehall Ski club tournament today with a total of 150.35 points. Harold Johnson, St. Paul, competing in class C, soared 149 feet for the day's longest jump.

Guttorm Paulson of the Norge club, Chicago, defending champion, finished fourth in class A with 129—132—142.05.

Berger Lund of Whitehall won the senior event with hops of 120 and 122 feet and 146.85 points. Olaf Skogen of Norge club, Chicago, was second with 117—118—144.35, and Karl Nielsen, also of Chicago, third with 96—100—128.3.

Schaefer Defeats Cochran to Retain 28.2 Cue Title

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Jake Schaefer of Chicago retained the world's 28.2 balkline billiard championship, conquering Welker Cochran of San Francisco by 824 points in their fourteen-block match which ended tonight at the Strand academy. The final score was 3,500 to 2,676. The rivals divided the final two sessions, Cochran triumphing in the thirteenth block this afternoon, 398 to 250, in eighteen innings, and Schaefer winning at night, 250 to 92, in eleven frames.

MARCH'S GOAL SAVES MARGIN OVER DETROIT

Shill Connects in Third Period.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks last night before 13,500 in Chicago Stadium did some grand overtaking business to come from behind twice as they effected a 2-all tie with the New York Rangers. Both teams scored in overtime, Mush March accomplishing the final tie on assists by Johnny Gottselig and Paul Thompson in 5:54 of the added session after Clint Smith had drifted a score past Goalie Mike Karakas in 59 seconds of the overtime period.

The crowd was the wildest of the year, exuberance, perhaps, having been steamed to a peak by the Hawks' recent refusals to become discouraged when in arrears near the close of contests.

Hextall Starts Scoring.

Bryan Hextall beat Karakas with a goal in 8:49 of the first period, which prevailed for a 1 to 0 New York edge until Newcomer Jack Shill, assisted by Earl Seibert and Cully Dahlstrom, tied the score in 12:49 of the third period.

The cheering that followed the tie was chilled somewhat when Earl Seibert drew a tripping penalty which carried into the extra period, and just before the Hawks returned to full power, Smith cut loose a shot from the blue line which ripped between Karakas' knees. Then the Hawks skated harder than ever with March bringing happiness as previously related.

Maintain Edge Over Wings.

The tie enabled the Hawks, who have eighteen more games to play, to remain two and one-half games ahead of the Detroit Red Wings, who tied Boston last night. The Wings have only sixteen more games, a circumstance which boomed the Hawks' Stanley cup playoff dreams.

The Hawks appeared to have the advantage of the rough going until a few seconds before the Ranger score in 8:49 of the first period. The Chicagoans, in the first seven minutes, banged shot after shot off Goalie Kerr's upholstery, with the biggest bang of the lot coming at 7:00 when Seibert got through for a close up try. After that the New Yorkers took over the play and almost scored when they picked up a free puck with Karakas clear out of the nets. This threat was thrown back when Shill took out the disk, but the Rangers surged right back into the Hawk defense zone, where Watson passed to Hextall in the middle of the rink about 25 feet out. Hextall shot a high one past Karakas, who apparently lost sight of the sailing rubber.

Shill Ties It Up.

The customers made as much or more noise than they've made all season when Shill tied the score in 12:49 of the third period. Shill and Seibert had taken the puck down the rink a few seconds earlier and at first were thwarted in skilled efforts to count. Dahlstrom then joined with Jack and Earl in manipulating the puck around in the Ranger defense zone. Then they worked in close to Goalie Kerr and Shill hammered home the tying marker. The Rangers sought a favorable decision from the referees, but were turned down. The goal stood and the score was 1 to 1.

Rangers Score Again.

The Rangers moved right in on Karakas at the start of overtime and in a few seconds Karakas made a great diving save, only to fold up a few seconds later when he let Smith's shot sift between his knees for a goal in 59 seconds.

In the sixth minute the Rangers were hammering at the Hawk goal when March, Gottselig, and Thompson grabbed the puck from a mêlée and launched a parade down the rink. Passing with great speed and accuracy, the trio retained the puck after a couple of whacks at Kerr's boots. Then March whisked the goal home from close in. The time was 5:54 and Gottselig and Thompson drew richly deserved assists.

Eddie Schroeder and Elaine Bogda of the Northwest Skating club won the Illinois skating championships at Aurora yesterday with identical scores of 80 points. Schroeder was the defending champion in the men's division. Miss Bogda succeeds Eleanor Theil Dyer, who did not compete yesterday.

Miss Bogda, a comptometer operator in a Chicago bank, won the 440 yard dash and half mile, and took second in the mile, which was won by Genevieve Swierkos of the C. Y. O. Miss Swierkos placed second in the other two events to score 10 points and finish second in the meet.

Miss Swierkos spurted to the front in the last two laps, pulling away from Miss Bogda and Shirley Jameson. She won by 25 yards, the most decisive victory of the day.

Schroeder Wins 440.

Schroeder's superiority over the field was evidenced in the half mile, the distance in which he broke the western record on Saturday at Glen Ellyn. He won by a comfortable margin. He was second in the mile, did not place in the 440, but won the two mile.

John Flickinger of the C. Y. O. won the 440, in which Schroeder did not qualify. Bob Sherman of the Northwest club was second, and Charley Serro, a teammate, third.

Bunny Lawler Wins.

Bunny Lawler, who has never been defeated in junior competition, preserved her record by winning the junior girls' 440 yard event from Shirley Klaris of the C. Y. O. and Shirley Pitalsch of Aurora.

Wisconsin Bowler Leads in Tourney on 300 Game

Tony Schwoelger, 53, of Stoughton, Wis., traveled 160 miles by bus and train from his home town to Aurora today, took of his coat the minute he got to the alleys, and shot the first 300 score in the history of the interstate bowling tournament. He added counts of 194 and 210 to his perfect score for a total of 740 that put him in first place in the singles.

Dumont of Wichita, Kas., Named Semi-Pro President

Raymond Dumont of Wichita, Kas., was reelected president of the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress by the board of directors for the fourth consecutive term yesterday at the Congress hotel. A meeting of semi-pro commissioners from 48 states will be held today to select a site for the 1938 national tournament and plan 768 district tourneys.

124th Artillery Quintet Wins Over Calumet, 35-26

The 124th Field Artillery basketball team defeated the Calumet K. C. quintet, 35 26, yesterday at the 124th armory. Kemmerling, guard, led the 124th's offense with ten points. In other games the Atlantic Commission five beat Cuneo Press, 44 to 22, and the Hyde Park A. C. whipped the 2d Combat Train team, 28 to 22.

St Josaphat and Holy Cross Fives Win C.Y.O. Games

St. Josaphat retained the sectional lead in the St. Alphonsus division of the C. Y. O. Basketball league by beating the St. Alphonsus lights and heavies yesterday at St. Alphonsus gymnasium. The heavyweights won, 35 to 22; the lights, 41 to 32. Both of St. Josaphat's teams are undefeated.

At St. Barbara's gymnasium Holy Cross' heavies, undefeated in league play, continued their march to the sectional title with a 55 to 34 victory over Immaculate Conception.

Shamrocks, Hornets Win in Arena Hocky

The Chicago Hornets defeated the Whiting Macks, 4 to 3, in an overtime hocky game at the Arena yesterday afternoon. In the second contest, the C. Y. O. Shamrocks beat Waukegan, 10 to 3.

The rejuvenated Whiting sextet buoyed up by a victory over the league leading Shamrocks last Sunday, matched the victors goal for goal during the regulation period, but a well placed drive in the extra session by Vic Boutin, assisted by George Vokac, beat Goalie Ortman for the winning marker.

The C. Y. O. Shamrocks, evidently anxious to avenge their only defeat, easily triumphed by the largest score yet recorded in the league.

Hornets Take Lead.

The Hornets scored first in the second period, Shimmin getting a goal in 7:50. Less than a minute later Bjork made the second Hornet goal. Art Anderson whittled the margin down by drilling a hard shot past Riddle and early in the third period Savage tied the score at 2-all by scoring unassisted.

Both teams hit the nets late in the third period. The Boutin-Vokac combination scored for the Hornets in 1:04 of the overtime to settle the issue.

Janelle, Savela Star.

The C. Y. O.-Waukegan duel proved to be a scoring contest between the league's leading scorers, Ed Janelle of Waukegan, and Bill Savela of the C. Y. O., with Savela's three goals and an assist outstripping Janelle's two goals and one assist. Janelle now leads Savela by one point for the league leadership with 12 points.

Maccabees Win; Gain Semi-Finals in West Division

BY OFFSIDE.

Two goals by Al Waldron in the second period gave the Maccabees a 2 to 1 victory over the Schlitz soccer team of Milwaukee yesterday at Sparta stadium and sent them into the Western division semi-finals of the national challenge cup soccer tournament.

Schlitz, favored by a strong wind, took the lead midway through the first period as Karcher scored on a pass up the center by Schulze. The Maccabees tied it up two minutes after the second half had opened on the first of Al Waldron's goals, the result of a corner, and established their victory margin 25 minutes through the period as Waldron drove into the net from a penalty for handling. Lineups:

MACCABEES [2].		SCHLITZ [1].
Griffith	G.	Biega
Henney	R. B.	Mofatt
Art Waldron	L. B.	Schroeder
Robb	R. H.	Bauman

Wright	C.	Karcher
Guthburt	I. L.	Meyers
Lillie	O. L.	DePratt

Substitutions—Maccabees: Campbell, Pearlman. Schlitz: Lotz, Tresher.
Goals—Al Waldron [2], Karcher.
Referee—Harry Monaghan.

The Slovaks of the Chicago league's city division defeated the Swedish-Americans' first team, 3 to 1, last night to win the fifth annual seven-on-a-side indoor soccer tournament. The victors were awarded the A. M. Kaindl trophy. Vagovsky scored twice and Stevak once for the Slovaks, while Hampson counted from penalty for the Swedes' only goal.

The Slovaks had defeated the Swedish-Americans' seconds, 1 to 0, for the south side title and a place in the finals.

Frisch Boat Wins Fox Lake Ice Regatta

Paul, George, and Joe Frisch won three of a series of five races held yesterday on Fox lake by a fleet of fifteen Penguin Ice Yacht club E class racers, to capture the series by one point. A. R. [Nap] Prager, the club's commodore last year, was runner-up, winning the other two races. The races were run over a triangular course totaling eight miles.

The Frisch brothers won the opening race in nine minutes, four seconds, with Frank Hayes in second place by nineteen seconds. The second race was won by the Frisch brothers' Boxo in 9:42, with Hayes three seconds behind.

Prager's Pfft II., christened yesterday, won the third and fourth races, after finishing fifth in the first race and third in the second race. The finishing time in the third race, 9:01, was the best of the series. Bill Ashton was runner-up in the third race, the Frisch brothers in the fourth race. The Frisch brothers defeated Prager in the final race to capture the series.

In the first of a series of two iceboat regattas on Lake Calumet, with a fleet of 24 boats in two divisions competing, Dick Kaup, of the Chicago Ice Yacht club, defeated fourteen other E class craft with his entry, Frosty.

M. A. Johnson was runner-up in his boat, Zip. Frosty's victory gave it 19 points to Zip's 16. William Siegel and Ed Jaesky sailed their two racers across the finish line of the four and one-half mile course in a tie for third.

Cecil Isbell Denies Reports of Marriage

Houston, Tex., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Cecil Isbell, former Purdue football player, today denied reports that he was married.

Isbell said he and Miss Hope Reisner of West Lafayette, Ind., were engaged and planned to be married sometime in June.

Isbell is a senior at Purdue and will return to school Monday. He played in a professional football game here today. A Purdue teammate, Lou Brock, said in Indianapolis the couple had been married there Saturday.

WEIGHT LIFTING WON BY GERMAN AMERICAN TEAM

The German-American Athletic club scored 12 points to win its second consecutive weight lifting title in the fourth annual Chicago district meet at the Kolping Society house last night.

Four teams—Aurora Y. M. C. A., Englewood Y. M. C. A., Chicago Weight Lifting club, and the Mid-City Weight Lifting club—each scored eight points to tie for second place.

Bob Naylor of the Aurora Y. and Tony Petroline, competing unattached, broke two Central A. A. U. records in their classes. Naylor, who weighs 118 pounds, established a new mark in the two arm snatch and the two arm clean and jerk. In the former he hoisted 145 pounds, two over the old record, and in the clean and jerk his old mark of 190 was bettered by 10 pounds.

Petroline, winner of the 165 pound title for three consecutive years, captured the 180 pound championship.

COOPER'S 68 ON LAST ROUND WINS OPEN BY STROKE

Chicagoan Posts 275 in Oakland Tourney.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Harry Cooper, preserving his reputation as one of golf's outstanding competitors, finished with a par smashing 68 today to win the $5,000 Oakland tournament by a stroke with a 72 hole total of 275.

While four thousand looked on, Cooper dropped a nine foot putt on the 453 yard last hole for an eagle three and $1,200. It was the most thrilling windup in the history of the tournament.

The Chicago professional, leading money winner of 1937, split the fairway on his drive; fired a No. 3 wood to the green and tapped the ball into the cup.

Hines' Putter Fails.

Cooper's final round clipped two strokes off par for the 5,932 yard course and his 32 on the incoming nine was three under par. He put together four rounds of 70, 66, 71 and 68 for his total. His second round was the lowest of the tournament.

Tied for second place were Jimmy Hines of Garden City, Long Island, N. Y., and Charley Sheppard of Pleasanton, Cal. Hines, leader for three rounds, faltered this afternoon to take a 73 while Sheppard moved into a tie with a 67. Hines and Sheppard divided second and third money, amounting to $650 apiece.

Putting trouble cost Hines victory. He blew up on the incoming nine to take a 37. Sheppard meanwhile compiled the greatest last nine hole score of the three day meet by posting a 31 to go with his outgoing 36.

Little, Thomson Drop Out.

Among the big name pretournament favorites who did not finish in the money, were Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee-on-Delaware; Lawson Little, San Francisco, former amateur champion; Horton Smith, Chicago, and Byron Nelson, Reading, Pa.

Thomson, winner of the recent $7,500 Los Angeles open, and Little did not turn in last round cards after messing up their third rounds.

Don Edwards, San Jose, Cal., led the amateurs with a 292.

Ciesars Defeat Kankakee, 61-38, in Pro League Game

The Ciesar All-Americans increased their lead in the western division of the National Professional Basketball league yesterday afternoon, defeating the Kankakee Gallaghers, 61 to 38, in the Whiting Community Center.

600 BOXERS TAKE GOLDEN GLOVES TESTS TONIGHT

C. Y. O. Boys Who Missed Also May Report.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

More than six hundred amateur boxers have been notified to report for their physical examinations for Chicago's Golden Gloves tournaments tonight in Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street. This number does not include those members of the Catholic Youth Organization who failed to report for the C. Y. O. examination a week ago. These boys are eligible to report tonight or Friday night when the final examination will be given.

Any boxer who previously has received a parental consent card and notice to report for an earlier examination also may come to Trafton's tonight. The card of admission is the parental consent card which must be signed by parent or guardian before the A. A. U. clerks will issue permission to compete and before the physicians will examine the boxers. Those who miss tonight also will be permitted to come to the final examination Friday evening in Trafton's gymnasium.

Mail Letters Today, Tomorrow.

Letters will be mailed today and tomorrow for those who submitted Golden Gloves entries before the deadline last night. These boys will report Friday for examination.

Among the C. Y. O. boxers of exceptional ability who were out of town last week when the C. Y. O. examination was held and who will report tonight are Chester Murczek and James O'Malley, welterweights; Hiner Thomas and Chester Paulis, middleweights; Eddie Foys, lightweight, Mario Christopher and William Goldsmith, lightweights, and Joey Gubbins, featherweight.

First Sectional Opens Feb. 9.

As soon as the list of eligible boxers is completed after Friday's examination, the boys will be classified according to sections and weights. Programs will be printed for each section, the first of which opens on Feb. 9 in the Madison Athletic club. On Feb. 15 the south section starts in White City. The northwest section opens in Marigold Gardens on Feb. 16 and the north section in Loyola university gymnasium starts Feb. 21, one day before the south side boxers resume their campaign for qualifying positions in the Tournament of Champions.

In all there will be sixteen nights of boxing in the sectional meets. Since the sectional tournaments run concurrently on several nights, only ten nights are required to reduce the field to sixty-four, half of whom will be novice qualifiers for the semi-finals in the Stadium.

Seats Not Reserved.

Seats are not reserved for the sectional tournaments. All tickets are 75 cents and may be purchased a half hour before the start of each show. Two rings will be required on the first night of each tournament. Otherwise an effort will be made to use only one ring each night. The shows will start at 7 o'clock on opening nights and thereafter the starting time of 7:30 or 8 p. m. will be announced daily.

When two rings are required, a card system is used to identify the boxers. The number of the card displayed in the boxer's corner corresponds to the boxer's number in the program. All decisions are given by the announcers. This card system also will be necessary at the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium, where three rings will be used on Feb. 28, March 1 and 2.

These Men Are Announcers.

The list of Golden Gloves announcers includes Frank Kalteux, Leonard Sterling, Dick Mastro, Sam Abruscato, Ted Canty, and William [Pep] Kerwin.

Tickets for the Tournament of Champions may be ordered now from Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower. Prices for each night are $1.10, 66 cents, and 40 cents. Tickets for the finals March 11 are $3.30, $2.20, $1.65, $1.10, and 55 cents. All seats are reserved and mail orders now will be accepted.

Aron, Burns Meet Tonight at Marigold

Milt Aron, whose exploits nearly carried him to national heights last year, and Charley Burns, who worked in the coal mines of Pennsylvania until fighting started taking up most of his time, will open their 1938 boxing campaigns in a ten round bout tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

If he makes a good showing against Aron, Burns, who is 23 years old, may supplant Varias Milling in a proposed match with Henry Armstrong in Chicago Stadium Feb. 25.

Burns has been after a return meeting with Armstrong ever since the featherweight champion knocked him out in Pittsburgh on Sept. 9.

The Pittsburgh encounter did not appear to be a true test for the reason that Burns had no reduced to 136 pounds, two less than his fighting weight, and the effort weakened him. Supporting matches:

Willie Joyce, Gary, vs. Sam Scully, Chicago [5], 132.
Gene Spencer, South Chicago, vs. Mike Battalino, Milwaukee [4], 132.
Eddie Helstrom, Rogers Park, vs. Jimmy Sheppard, Springfield, Ill. [4], 145.
Joseph Tambe, New York, vs. Pat O'Brien, Chicago [4], 124.

Ruffy Silverstein, state heavyweight wrestling title holder, will appear as a windup performer in a one hour encounter with Fred Grubmier in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, tonight. Walter Roxy, Detroit athlete, faces Rudy Kay in the semi-final, set for thirty minutes. Johnny Silvy encounters Farmer Mack, Buck O'Neill clashes with Bill Brooks, and Big Bill Beth tackles Frank Welger. F. M.

More Interest in Setters Is Goal of Club

BY BOB BECKER.

Setter fanciers in Chicagoland have started a new program to increase interest in the setter breeds, according to an announcement by the Western Setter club. This club is working on a program to promote both show and field trial competition during the coming year, as the aim is to get more setter owners to exhibit their dogs in shows or to run them in field trials.

Jack Cooper of Franklin Park has been reelected president of the club for 1938. Other officers elected were: Henry Heine of Arlington Heights, secretary; D. L. Hollenbeck of Chicago, treasurer; J. H. Morse, Des Plaines, first vice president; and Richard Boonstra, Glen Ellyn, second vice president. J. G. Law is chairman of the bench committee and Mrs. J. G. Law chairman of the trophy committee.

Meet Friday Night.

The Western Setter club will hold a meeting at 8:30 Friday evening, Feb. 4, in the Aragon kennels in Franklin Park, when the Mid-Oaks kennel's silver trophy for the club member whose English setters have placed winners the largest number of times is awarded to George F. Henneberry of Chicago. Mr. Henneberry's setters won this trophy by a decisive margin in their competition in 1937 dog shows.

This meeting Friday night is open to all setter fanciers in Chicagoland. It will be held in the Aragon kennels, Mannheim road, Franklin Park. Setter owners wishing further information are advised to call the secretary, Henry Heine, telephone Arlington Heights 687 W.

Gordons Are Neglected.

The activities of setter fanciers to promote the interests of various setter breeds brings to mind the plight of the Gordon setter, a sort of neglected, forgotten breed in America. The old "black and tans" have had to yield to the English and Irish setters in recent years, judging from the small number seen in shows and the few heard about in the field or in trials.

But Chicago is doing a great deal to promote the Gordons, due to the interest being taken in them by one or two breeders. One of these Gordon fanciers has been importing a number of outstanding dogs from England.

NEWS OF FINANCIAL AND GRAIN MARKETS

STEEL OUTPUT STILL RISING; RATE NOW 33%

Production Highest Since November.

Steel ingot production last week rose 2.5 points to 33 per cent of capacity, the highest since the week of Nov. 20, 1937, the magazine Steel estimated yesterday. It predicted a further increase in most centers this week.

A gain of 4 points at Pittsburgh to 30 per cent was the most important change. A number of other centers were unchanged from the preceding week and declines were slight in the few steel districts which reduced operations. Chicago was 1 point lower at 27 per cent, according to Steel.

New Buying Increases.

New buying of steel has run between 10 and 15 per cent better in January than during December, the magazine said. This is not a spectacular gain, considering the fact that steel buying was at its lowest ebb in recent years last month, but indicates a growing need of replenishment of stocks by consumer companies.

Ship construction continues an important factor in the steel market, but requirements for heavy steel in this field will be spread over a long period. Scattered buying by railroads indicates need for rails, rolling stock, and repairs, Steel continued.

Steel Exports Continue Large.

"Steel exports in December continued the high rate of earlier months," the magazine said, "with 306,647 gross tons of manufactures and semi-manufactures and 318,771 tons of scrap. Because of smaller shipments in some higher priced materials the value for December was slightly under that of November."

Steel's scrap composite price showed no change at $13.90 a ton for the third consecutive week. Scrap buying is at a minimum, but holders of supplies are maintaining quotations with expectations of higher prices soon, it was indicated.

DEMANDS MORE PROTECTION FOR CHILEAN GOODS

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 30.—A specially appointed committee for the defense of national industries asked President Arturo Alessandri of Chile in an open letter today to give Chilean enterprise more ample tarif protection in the face of the growing volume of low priced foreign merchandise "dumped" on local markets.

The letter declared that if these conditions were allowed to continue it would mean ruin for national industries that have been progressively developing in the last few years.

Right wing publications hold the view that the present customs regulations are sufficient with their flexible clauses to establish limitations on imports if necessary.

Marshall Field.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information regarding the Marshall Field & Co. stock.—A. L. S.

Answer: Marshall Field & Co., Inc., is one of the world's best known merchandising enterprises. Retail dry goods activities center around its big State street store in Chicago, but the manufacturing and real estate divisions also are important.

The retail division, whose only loss in fifty years was in 1932, consists of the main store in Chicago, suburban stores located in Oak Park, Evanston, and Lake Forest, Ill.; the big Frederick & Nelson department store in Seattle, Wash., and small stores not operated under the Marshall Field name at Chicago Height Ill., and Watertown, S. D.

Initiating a program in 1935 designed to eliminate unprofitable lines, the company combined its wholesale and mills divisions into a new manufacturing division and ceased to act as a jobber of products manufactured by others. Now the manufacturing division sells only imported goods and products of its own factories.

The Merchandize Mart, largest building in the world in floor area, is a unit of the real estate division. This building has been developed into a leading market for manufacturers.

Without allowing for discontinued lines sales for nine months ended Sept. 30, 1937, were $70,412,000, compared with $73,564,000 in the first nine months of 1936. Net income for the 1937 period was $1,280,970, equivalent after 7 per cent preferred dividends to $4.30 a share on 287,225 shares of the company's 6 per cent preferred stock. In the first nine months of 1936 net income was $225,510, or 76 cents a share on 296,190 shares of 7 per cent preferred then outstanding.

If lines of merchandise which the company has discontinued were eliminated for both periods sales would have been $70,271,165 in the first nine months of 1937, against $63,270,628 in the corresponding 1936 months. Earnings in recent years:

	Sales.	Net income.	Inc. per common share.
1936	†$104,205,000	$2,879,000	$ .67
1935	108,903,000	199,000	*1.35
1934	100,795,000	*166,000	*1.62
1933	88,458,000	98,000	*1.43
1932	78,368,000	*7,987,000	*7.19
1931	114,340,000	*5,144,000	*5.16

*Deficit. †Excluding 1935 sales of discontinued lines, sales in 1936 showed a 17 per cent increase.

Current assets were $42,740,218, against current liabilities of $10,768,243 at the end of 1936.

The company had 8,965 shares of 7 per cent $100 par prior lien preferred, 287,225 shares of 6 per cent $100 par preferred, and 1,659,335 shares of no par common stock outstanding on Sept. 30, 1937.

Lack of Rain Dims Winter Wheat Outlook

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The widespread moisture deficiency over the winter wheat belt raises serious doubts as to the outcome of the crop that will be harvested in another five months. As in the drouth years of 1934 and 1936 the condition of the soil is poorest in the section of the southwest known as the "dust bowl."

Weather bureau reports indicated fairly general precipitation in the last ten days in the eastern and central sections of the producing belt, but the dry area in the southwest got no relief.

May Abandon Large Acreage.

Kansas, the largest winter wheat producing state, has doubtful prospects. The southwestern corner of the state, which lies in the center of the dust bowl, is in exceedingly poor condition.

Much of the seeded acreage in that area did not develop any growth before the winter set in, and crop appraisers predict that a large part of the area will be abandoned.

The condition of the crop in eastern and central Kansas is reported to be more favorable.

Through Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana good rains have helped crop prospects in restricted areas, but over the three states generally the moisture has not been heavy.

Other Areas Lack Moisture.

Western and northern Missouri wheat fields are described as in poor condition from lack of moisture. A deficiency of moisture exists, the reports show, in many sections of Iowa.

Since the department of agriculture survey of the wheat belt earlier this month the outlook has been a definite price factor. The department said that existing conditions in some areas threaten a repetition of the disastrous crop conditions of 1934 and 1936.

In the face of the doubtful prospects the trend of the market during the last week has been downward.

Chicago Trade Improves as Weather Turns Colder

Cold weather brought some improvement in Chicago retail and wholesale trade last week, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Although the turnover was lower than in the corresponding week of 1937, it was better than for recent weeks.

HODGES PROMOTED BY FIELD'S; MORE CHANGES PLANNED

Marshall Field & Co. yesterday announced that Luther H. Hodges, who for the last two years has been production manager of the manufacturing division, has been appointed general manager of the manufacturing division. Hodges will take over the duties of his new position tomorrow, succeeding J. P. Margeson Jr., who yesterday announced his resignation as vice president and general manager of the manufacturing division.

Margeson came with the company in November, 1935, at the request of the late James O. Mc Kinsey when McKinsey became chairman of the board of directors.

The company announced that "plans of the present corporate management call for material changes from the program and organization conceived by Mr. McKinsey."

Hodges will have his office headquarters in New York.

UNCERTAINTY WORSE THAN 'ANY BURDEN,' DU PONT DECLARES

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Lammot du Pont, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., declared today the "crying need" in industry "is for a lifting of uncertainty and for a reasonable assurance of stability in conditions under which industry must operate."

Lammot du Pont.

In an advance statement taken from the annual report which he will make to stockholders next month, he said "there appears to be no fundamental economic reason for business to remain at the present relatively low level, or for it not to recover." He said "industry's forward pathway is blanketed with a fog of uncertainty more retarding to progress than any burden industry must carry."

STOCKS CRUMBLE IN WORST WEEK SINCE NOVEMBER

Reflect Perplexity Over Federal Policies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Stock market prices were caught in the vortex of darkening sentiment last week as the list suffered its widest decline since the week that ended Nov. 20. Losses in the active stocks ran from 2 to 8 points.

The financial district appeared disturbed particularly by President Roosevelt's statement at a press conference urging industry to cut prices, but not wages.

Reflecting the perplexity in business circles, as Washington alternately frowns and smiles on business, many companies elected to reduce or omit dividends pending the adoption of a definite federal policy which will allow them to make plans for the future.

As measured by the Dow-Jones averages, the industrial group declined more than 9 points, rails were off more than 2, and the utility average dropped more than a point. On Wednesday—the day following the President's comment on wages and price reductions—the industrial average sagged more than 5 points.

High class manufacturing shares, steels, coppers, aircrafts, rails, stores, motors and chemicals suffered heavy losses. Nineteen new lows were hit.

U. S. IS IN FRUIT BUSINESS AFTER SEIZING BIG TRACT

Austin, Tex., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The federal government, through the Reconstruction Finance corporation, has gone into the citrus fruit business on an extensive scale. The Progresso Haciendas company, which owned one of the largest tracts of citrus fruit orchards in the lower Rio Grande valley, was unable to pay an R. F. C. loan and the R. F. C. foreclosed on the property a few months ago. Now the R. F. C. is marketing the fruit crop, it was learned today.

Youngstown Steel Door to Pay 25 Cent Dividend

Cleveland, O., Jan. 30.—(AP)—John Hadden, secretary of the Youngstown Steel Door company, announced today directors of the company have declared a dividend of 25 cents a share, payable March 15 to stock of record March 1. The company paid $2 a share on present stock in 1937.

Rails' Plight Main Problem, Says N.Y. Bank

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The Guaranty Trust company said today in its monthly letter on business that the plight of American railroads is one of the "most important and pressing national problems" of the moment.

"Financial rehabilitation of the railroads," the letter said, "has become a necessary condition of business recovery and a point has been reached where only decisive public action can meet the need. Their securities affect the safety of the savings of every bank depositor and every life insurance policy holder."

The letter said class 1 railroads in the hands of receivers or trustees in November numbered thirty-six, operating 70,000 miles of railway lines, or 28 per cent of total mileage.

"This is the largest percentage of mileage ever in the hands of the courts at any one time in the history of American railroads," the bank said.

Blames Political Factors.

Commenting on the slow progress made in reorganizing railroads that have sought protection of section 77 of the federal bankruptcy laws, the bank says that while the law itself has defects "it appears that the chief obstacle is the lack of present and prospective earning power."

"This lack of earning power," the letter said, "is not due primarily to a reduced demand for railway transportation service, but to a combination of economic and political factors."

Discussing ways of remedying the situation the bank said: "Taxes constitute the one factor in costs over which public authorities have direct control. In this direction, as well as in the matter of rates, governmental action could go far toward removing the dangers that threaten railroads."

National City Bank Scans Trend.

The National City bank of New York, in its monthly letter, noted a spotty improvement in orders in some of the industries and commodity markets in January, but said this "was nothing like a general forward movement." In some lines, especially in the retail trade, the report said, inventories have begun to run low, but in other lines stocks still are excessive.

The report said the prevailing opinion among business men is that the recession will pass through its low point in the first quarter, and possibly already is doing so. However, it added, "in looking ahead it is all too easy to find general reasons for uncertainty."

U. S. IS SEEKING NEW BUYERS TO CUT GOLD HOARD

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The treasury, owner of half of the world's monetary gold, sought new customers today for some of the metal.

France bought a total of $45,000,000 worth of the yellow hoard in almost weekly instalments until its currency took a nose dive recently, and England bought $5,000,000 worth about three months ago. But the treasury still has $12,750,000,000 left.

Because the treasury's fixed price of $35 an ounce for gold was the highest in the world, $5,703,320,000 of foreign gold has come into this country in the past four years.

It is for sale at the same price to any government or central bank, but not to individuals.

DEERE & CO.'S PROFIT IN YEAR IS $14,936,476

National Steel Nets Less in Quarter.

Deere & Co., maker of agricultural machinery, Moline, Ill., yesterday reported net income for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1937, of $14,936,476, equal after preferred dividend requirements to $4.24 a share on 3,007,908 common shares outstanding at the end of the fiscal year. This compared with net income in the preceding fiscal year of $11,610,306, or $9.38 a share on 1,005,000 common shares then outstanding, and to $3.13 a share on a comparable basis with the 1937 per share figure.

Back Dividends Paid.

Preferred dividend arrears of $2.35 a share were cleared during the year, and the regular preferred dividends of $1.40 a share were paid.

Net sales for the 1937 year totaled $100,399,710, an increase of 40 per cent over sales of $71,527,016 in the preceding fiscal year.

Charles Deere Wiman, president, said in a statement to stockholders: "As a result of favorable farm income, the business of the company during the spring months should continue to be good. For the balance of the year 1938 the volume of business will be largely dependent upon 1938 crops and prices."

National Steel Earnings.

The National Steel corporation, Pittsburgh, yesterday issued a preliminary earnings report for 1937, showing a drop in net income in the December quarter of 44 per cent, compared with the December, 1936, quarter, and 42 per cent gain in net income for the year 1937 over 1936.

Net earnings for the December quarter, before undistributed profits tax, amounted to $2,580,925, or $1.19 a share, compared with $4,628,729, or $2.14 a share, in the corresponding 1936 quarter, and 5,227,071, or $2.41 a share, in the third quarter of 1937. Net earnings

Types of Coal.

Coal generally is divided into two classes—anthracite, or hard, and bituminous, or soft. The main differences are in the amount of carbon and volatile matter each contains. The greater the amount of carbon the slower the coal burns; the greater the amount of volatile matter the faster it burns.

Anthracite coal was produced by nature in the eastern part of this country under greater pressure and heat than the bituminous coals found further west. Pocahontas coal, one of the most widely used, is rated as a semi-bituminous coal.

A Chicago coal dealer furnishes the following analyses of representative grades of the various types:

Anthracite: Moisture, 1.50 per cent; ash, 10.46 per cent; volatile matter, 3.63 per cent; carbon, 84.41 per cent; British thermal units [b. t. u.'s], 13,291 per pound. In addition, there is 0.56 per cent sulphur among the constituents.

Pocahontas: Moisture, 1.25 per cent; ash, 5.21 per cent; volatile matter, 19.25 per cent; carbon, 74.29 per cent; [b. t. u.'s], 15,140 per pound; sulphur, 0.75 per cent.

High grade southern Illinois soft coal: Moisture, 7.14 per cent; ash, 7.63 per cent; volatile matter, 32.85 per cent; carbon, 52.38 per cent; [b. t. u.'s], 13,271 per pound; sulphur, 0.95 per cent.

Tomorrow: Mortgages.

DECLINE IN RAIL BONDS WEAKENS WHOLE MARKET

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Prolongation of the selling movement in railroad bonds and weakness in shares helped keep a large section of the bond market on the downward trail last week.

A moderate amount of support appeared in some of the carrier liens on Friday and Saturday, but recoveries were trivial in comparison with the net losses marked up for many of the junior ratings and also for some of the higher grade issues.

Utility loans opened up a fairly wide gap between the best levels of the previous week, but on their slide they were better supported than rails. Industrial loans made a relatively good showing. United States government obligations were lower.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

WHAT KIND OF JOB ARE YOU LOOKING FOR?

Isn't a permanent position with good income and opportunity for advancement with a large company what you want? If you are a serious minded young man interested in your future and if you are 21 to 35 years of age and of neat appearance. Commonwealth Edison Company will consider you for a position in the Appliance Sales Department. If you meet with the above qualifications and you have the right attitude, previous experience is unnecessary. The electrical business is a growing business and men in it receive good percentage plus bonus and in addition a drawing account is available for those who qualify. Apply Monday, Room 1230, 140 South Dearborn-street, 9 a. m. to 11 a. m. only.

— — MEN WHO ARE INTERESTED — — IN PERMANENT SUCCESS

Living on West Side or in nearby suburbs. The men we are interested in will range in age between 26 and 46, and have good references. We will train the men selected in this leading, wonderful successful electrical unit business, and put them on the same high percentage basis as the oldest men. We want men who will make from $35 to $50 weekly the first 4 months, and much more after that. A personal interview at 10 this morning, Jan. 31, is very necessary. Call to see Mr. L. H. Larsen, 5939 Roosevelt-road.

Wrecked Bridge Causes New Ice Jam at Niagara—"Carol G.'s" Affairs in Court Again Today

WEDDING DATE SET—Miss Anne Lindsay Clark, who will be bride of John Roosevelt, President's youngest son. [Associated Press Wirephoto.] (Story on page 9.)

ON NIAGARA'S ICE—Youths exploring the worst jam in 30 years at falls yesterday. One is in huge crevasse. [Associated Press Wirephoto.] (Story on page 3.)

WOMEN'S DRESSES SHORTER AGAIN—The length of the skirts worn by these actresses shows the trend since 1924. Left to right: Mary Pickford, Norma Talmadge, Norma Shearer, Marlene Dieterich, Marion Davies, Gloria Swanson, Bette Davis, and Anita Louise. Skirts this year must be 15 inches from the ground. It is interesting to note that length conforms to the rise and fall of business. When prices are high skirts, because of increased cost of textiles, are short. (Story on page 1.)
